

Mondell Being Urged For Cabinet

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright 1923 By The Portsmouth Times)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—President Harding probably will defer making any announcement of his choice of a successor to Secretary Fall of the Interior Department until the closing days of the present session and possibly not until March 4th.

The situation which prompts delay is rather delicate as complicated. Two weeks ago the president let it be known that he would give out the name of the new secretary of the interior the following week. But he did not. Inquiries from newspaper correspondents resulted in a uniform answer at the White House that the president had not chosen anyone as yet.

It is a foregone conclusion, of course, that the president is not planning to add some unknown person to his official family and that the choice will be made from some one new in public life. But the pressure upon the president has come from his own friends and whatever selection he makes is bound to prove disappointing to some group.

There has been a well defined movement in the house of representatives, for instance, to urge the appointment of Frank W. Mondell. He (Continued On Page Three)

NEGRO waiter in a small town restaurant where the menu consisted of ham and eggs, steak and coffee, took a trip to New York. There he soon spent his money and applied for work at a smart hotel and was assigned to a table. A fashionable couple entered and were seated.

"Waiter," said the gentleman, "please bring me some consommé and be lady some bouillon."

"Yes-yessuh," said the waiter.

"Then you can bring us some paté de foie gras, a porthouse a la Bordelaise, potatoes Lyonnaise, and head lettuce with mayonnaise."

"And finish with two pineapple parfaits, some refreshment, Ben's water crackers and two demi-tasses."

"An-yassuh," said the waiter, uncertainly.

Then he went back to the butler's pantry, where he yelled:

"Gimme!"

The cook was busy and paid no attention. Again the negro shouted:

"Gimme!"

"Give you what?" growled the cook.

"Gimme my hat and coat," said the waiter.

Better Weather Ahead For Suffering Nation

CHICAGO, February 16.—(By the Associated Press)—With the backing of the cold wave broken, the Upper Mississippi Valley and the northwest today made further progress in recovering from the blizzard which paralyzed trans-continental transportation and demolished telephone and telegraph lines and cut off many communities.

Continued cold weather was predicted today for the rest of the week, but this was accompanied by fair weather signals.

Train service in the northwest is rapidly returning normal today.

The center of the cold area is remaining in the northwest, keeping temperature readings from 10 to 20 degrees below zero.

Habig Pays The Penalty In Chair

COLUMBUS, O., February 16.—(By the Associated Press)—Charles Habig, of Cleveland, was electrocuted at the Ohio penitentiary early this morning for the murder of August Dyke, a policeman.

Habig entered the death chamber at 12:02, the current was turned on at 12:04 and he was pronounced dead by the penitentiary physician at 12:06. Two charges of electricity were used.

As he came down the stairs from the death chamber above the electrocution room, he and the two priests who accompanied him, could be heard repeating prayers. As he was being strapped in the chair, Rev. Father Francis Kelly, the prison chaplain, whispered a final prayer.

Habig did not look to the right or left as he entered the chamber and hastily walked to the chair and seated himself. His face betrayed no expression and he seemed as in a daze. Just before the current was turned on he tightly clenched his fists and died in that posture.

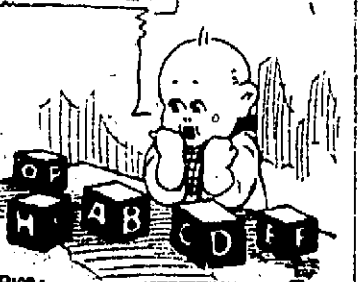

Yesterday afternoon and last night he was visited by his wife and other relatives who made an attempt to see Governor Donahay in a final effort to secure a reprieve, but to no success. Mrs. Habig came here from Wheeling, W. Va., where she has been residing with her two children. Habig's parents also reside there. Mrs. Habig will take the body to Wheeling today. Habig admitted yesterday that he was guilty of robbery, but denied that he had committed murder. Following a number of robberies in Cleveland, Patrolman Dyke came on Habig and his two companions and as the men started to run Dyke opened fire. One of the trio returned the fire and Dyke fell, mortally wounded. The three men were arrested and Chris Lonchar, of Akron, and Morten Heron-

Tiny Balloon Traveled Miles

CORRY, PA., February 16.—(By the Associated Press)—A tiny balloon released from a larger one while flying over Madison, Wis., last Monday in an experimental flight by the department of agriculture, came to earth on Fred Kuhn's farm near here, 375 miles away, 24 hours later. This is a record flight of its kind, the department said in a letter to Kuhn made public by him today. He had forwarded to the department a tag attached to the balloon.

Cut Debt Bill Debate

WASHINGTON, February 16.—(By the Associated Press)—The senate resumed discussion of the British debt funding bill today under an agreement to limit debate after two o'clock and vote for adjournment.

The agreement confines each senator speaking after two o'clock to ten minutes, and provides that the chair shall not keep a list of members to recognize for addresses.

Japs Deny Migration

WASHINGTON.—Japanese and Brazilian ambassadors deny knowledge of agreement between Brazil and Japan for migration to Brazil of 500,000 Japanese colonists, but in other well informed quarters report is credited.

Victim Of Alcohol

CLEVELAND, O., February 16.—(By the Associated Press)—The death of a man registered at a hotel here as Charles Murphy, of New York, early today, was the seventeenth since the first of the year from alcoholism. He was removed from his room to a hospital late yesterday.

Practically all lives imperiled by gales, smashing shipping on the Atlantic and Pacific coast were reported saved.

The fate of the crew of the Tustan Prince, aground near Estevanpoint, was still in doubt.

Sixteen deaths attributed to the cold were reported in the west, eight in Seattle and eight scattering through the central west.

Railroads were able to resume practically normal schedule throughout the northwest today. Coal supplies were reported running short in inland towns.

NORFOLK, VA., February 16.—(By the Associated Press)—Efforts of coast guard headquarters to get in touch with the Italian steamship Moncenizio, reported sinking 500 miles off the Virginia coast yesterday, had been without result at noon today. The steamship Carpathia, New Orleans of Havre, picked up the distress call of the Moncenizio and went to her assistance, but attempts to communicate with her also were of no avail.

SEATTLE, WASH., February 16.—(By the Associated Press)—With the crews saved of three vessels that yesterday met disaster in that dread region of navigators in the Pacific ocean west of Washington and south of Vancouver Island, wireless operators along the coast today were reaching into the air for word of the steamship Tuscan Prince. No authentic news of the Tuscan Prince had come since she sent a faint message yesterday morning, her wireless apparently failing before she could give her position.

The steamer Nika which burned to the water's edge after she lost her rudder, was a drifting junk, while her crew was coming to Seattle.

The steamship Santa Rita, which went upon the rocks near Carmanah Island, was believed to be still afloat, although expected to be a total loss. Her crew with a few tents, camped on the inhospitable coast in that vicinity. The tug Sea Monarch, was expected to take them up today.

The motor ship Coolidge, with two of her officers aboard, was clinging to the rocks at Albert Head, near Victoria, her owners hoping that she might yet be gotten off or that at least her machinery might be saved.

Fevered, fruitless questioning throughout last night, was concerned almost wholly with the fate of the Tuscan Prince. This British passenger and freight liner with her captain and crew of 42 was the subject of contradictory rumors throughout yesterday.

A report that she had been found and her crew saved was discovered to be based on hearsay.

In the night a report that a ship had been seen alive near Pachena Point, on the west side of Vancouver Island, led to the belief that the Tuscan Prince, like the Nika, might have fallen a prey to flames in the midst of a losing struggle with the deep.

But early today the Canadian Salvage Ship Algonquin, which had hurried to the vicinity of Point Pachena, reported that a thorough search had showed no sign of a burning ship.

In search of the Tuscan Prince, the coast guard cutter Algonquin, which relayed a report picked up at Astoria, Ore., that was mistakenly interpreted here as indicating that the steamship's crew had been saved, was bound today for the vicinity of Point Estevan. The Tuscan Prince had been generally believed to be near there until the wireless operator at the Point declared he positively knew that no ship in distress had been seen and asserted his belief that she was south of Cape Flattery.

One possible explanation of the reported burning ship was a message that the steamer Canadian Volunteer "may have been sending up rockets near Pachena Point." The Salvage Ship Algonquin searched the vicinity early today without finding anything.

French Coal Strike Serious

PARIS, February 16.—(By the United Press)—The general strike of French coal miners which began today, is serious, it was semi-officially admitted this afternoon. Seventy-five per cent of mine workers in the Loire region are out, about twenty per cent in the Nord and ten per cent elsewhere. The French made numerous arrests throughout the Ruhr and at Duisburg. Three jail officials were thrown into cells for six months sentences and fined fifty thousand marks each for refusing to accept prisoners brought in by troops. German police shot two French soldiers in the Zoelshershof Hotel at Essen. French troops in the hotel insisted on their being served despite the boycott, which was in against them. Two German policemen entered and fired upon the French, wounding two.

Allies Firm; Turks Also

LONDON, February 16.—(By the United Press)—The allied high commissioners are sending a note to Ankara refusing to recognize Turk ultimatum demanding evacuation of Smyrna by foreign warships. British and French warships have remained in the forbidden waters set by the latest Ottoman ultimatum. Trouble is not expected, however, the French believing it may yet be possible to resume the peace parley that collapsed at Lausanne.

LONDON, February 16.—(By the Associated Press)—The latest French-British conference ended abruptly today in a disagreement over the question of the British permitting troop-manned trains being operated through the Cologne area by the French. Optimism expressed early in the day that the French minister of public works would be successful in his mission, was dampened with the parley apparently collapsed. The entente survived the break down, however. It was authoritatively indicated. The French will return to Paris tonight. The house of commons today gave Premier Bonar Law a vote of confidence on his Ruhr policy.

grave fears were expressed today in a radio message from the cutter for the safety of the schooner's crew of seven men.

The message received yesterday from the ship stated that she was sinking at the rate of one foot an hour. She was making about six knots an hour toward Cape Henry, but coast guard officials said the heavy northwest gale would force her to tack back and forth and prevent her making any progress towards the capes.

Raid Starts From Church; Booze Placed In Pews

YOUNGSTOWN, O., February 16.—(By the Associated Press)—Ten prisoners of the forty-two said to have been arrested here last night in wholesale raids by the dry enforcement league were located today in the jail at Saterburg, Ohio. The others could not be found.

The raids were made by a hundred dry agents who started out in squads of eight after a meeting at the Y. M. C. A. battered down doors, used guns and clubs where resistance was offered, and collected their prisoners in the Trinity M. E. Church here. The agents said they raided forty-two places in Youngstown, East Youngstown and Struthers, and declared they made at least one arrest at every place visited.

Hundreds of gallons of liquor seized by the raiders today was occupying the pews in the rear of the Trinity Church.

PARIS, February 16.—(By the Associated Press)—Sovereignty over the Memel district, the Baltic area detached from the Germans and since the war under allied jurisdiction was granted Lithuania by the allied council of ambassadors today.

French Soldier Wounded; Tanks Moved Into Essen

ESSEN, February 16.—(By the Associated Press)—Two French soldiers were wounded here last night by German security police who interfered in a cafe altercation. The tension, which already was high, has been increased by the shooting today by the French tanks into the city.

The shooting incident arose from the soldiers demanding drinks in a cafe and being met with a refusal by a waiter. A row was started, the security police appeared and the French claim, fired the first shot.

A guard of French soldiers has been placed in the Essen Branch of the Reichsbank, but this is explained as a measure to protect the supply of electric current to the Kaiserhof Hotel, the French headquarters, which is tied through the bank's transmitters.

Several cases of attempted sabotage were reported during the night from various parts of the Ruhr. One instance resulted in the death of a German railway worker who was shot by a sentry as he tried to enter a round house in the hands of the occupying forces.

Acts of sabotage were directed particularly against the lines of communication. During the night additional telephone and telegraph wires were cut at Dusseldorf preventing headquarters keeping in touch with the Ruhr developments. Owing to the increased sabotage more severe measures are contemplated by the French. They have already arrested eight postal telegraph employees.

CINCINNATI—After completing 40 years in the service of the United States government, during which time he worked himself up from a mail clerk to assistant postmaster at Cincinnati, George Reiter, who will be 70 years of age June 7, will retire on June 6. He will become manager of a local bank.

SWEEDISH INVENTOR HAS NEW OIL LIGHT

Claims Whiter and Much Cheaper
Light Than Electric or Gas

Edison enabled us to enjoy the benefits of electric light, Count Westbach's mantle made it possible to have the incandescent gas light, but it remained for a Swedish engineer, named Johnsson, now living in Chicago, to devise a lamp that would burn ordinary, everyday kerosene oil and produce a light said by the many scientists who have seen it to be whiter than electric. The lamp is as simple to operate as the old style oil lamp, burns without odor, smoke or noise and is providing a sensation where oil light is needed.

Mr. Johnson offers to send a lamp on ten days' free trial and will even give one to the first user in each locality who will help introduce it. A letter addressed to E. A. Johnson, 99 W. Lake St., Chicago, will bring full particulars about this wonderful new lamp. He has an interesting agency offer, too. — Advertisement.

Grand Jury Returns 23 Indictments

Twenty-three indictments were returned by the grand jury in its report submitted to Judge Thomas Thursday afternoon shortly before four o'clock. The jury was in session two days and during the time called forty witnesses covering the thirty-three cases investigated, one of which was passed for further inquiry and nine were ignored.

In a special report to the court the jury condemned the present jail and urged the construction of a new jail on top of the new courthouse and then commended Sheriff Harry M. Dunham for his treatment toward the prisoners incarcerated in the institution. The special report in full reads: To the Honorable James S. Thomas, Judge of the Court of Common Pleas, Scioto County, Ohio.

The jurors for the February term, 1923, in session, desire to submit the following special report.

In our visit to the county jail and our examination of the premises, we find that the jail building now used by the county is in a deplorable condition and in great need of repair. The condition of this building and its arrangement causes it to be very insanitary and a most undesirable place for the confinement of prisoners, there being almost a total lack of ventilation in the building. We thoroughly realize the need of a new jail building for the county and one which will be proper and suitable for the confinement of prisoners.

We suggest that our report be communicated by the clerk of this court to the present court house building commission with your recommendation that a new jail building be constructed as soon as is convenient and expedient and that this jail building be included in the proposed new court house building and on the top floor thereof with all modern conveniences such as are installed and used in a modern jail building.

We feel that our report as to the treatment of the prisoners, and accommodations offered by the Sheriff and the rules of the Court prescribed for the government of the county jail should also receive special mention. We find that the present sheriff should be highly commended for his treatment toward the prisoners and the cleanliness of the jail, but he is greatly handicapped by reason of the inadequate and dilapidated condition of the building. It is impossible for the Sheriff to provide suitable means of sanitation and accommodation in the present building. Respectfully submitted.

SPEED WAGON

MANUFACTURED Not Assembled!

THE Speed Wagon is a Reo creation, and every major unit is a Reo product—designed and manufactured in the big Reo shops.

Engine, clutch, transmission, universal joints, propeller shaft, rear axle,—the whole power line,—was planned as an entirety. Every unit functions harmoniously with its neighbor.

And the same practice, and the same advantages, apply to every other part of the chassis. Springs, frame, and each unit is planned and produced solely for Speed Wagon service.

The inner-frame mounting of power units, the amidship location of transmission, the equitable balancing of weight over the four wheels,—these are unusual practices, and mean a lot to the truck owner. Reo can manufacture trucks this way because all the facilities are self-contained.

Physically and financially, Reo is solidly established. No Speed Wagon, or other Reo product, will ever be orphaned!

The Speed Wagon represents the lowest cost of highway freightage, regardless of the price or capacity of the vehicle with which it may be compared. Its capacity is from 500 to 2500 pounds. More than 75,000 are in service.

Burns Chief To Reply To Accuser's Charges

CHICAGO, February 16.—(By the Associated Press)—Allen O. Meyers, chief of the radical bureau of the W. J. Burns International detective agency was here today prepared to answer charges made against him by Albert Ballin, alias Albert Batanow, contained in a deposition being made for use in the trial of 22 alleged members of the communist party at St. Joseph, Mich., February 26.

Batanow, while testifying on direct examination, charged that Meyers proposed that he go to Russia and kill Lenin and Trotsky; that Meyers told him to make a fictitious report purporting to show that he had acted as an agent for "Big" Bill Haywood, I. W. W. leader, transporting a trunk of radical literature from Chicago to a man named P. Walter, in New York and that the trunk was to be used as a "plant" on which to base Walter's arrest.

Meyers was ordered here to testify for the defense. He declined to reveal what the nature of this testimony would be.

The confessed agent provocateur was unable to tell his exact age, the date of his birth or birth place. He said he had not long ago communicated with his mother in Russia, but said he could not remember the name of the town in which she resided.

publican leader. Arguments have been advanced to Mr. Harding that Mr. Mondell not only knows the problems of the interior department because of his own experience in the West with public land and mineral resources but that he is intimately acquainted with the intricate questions arising daily out of the interpretation of existing laws. Some of the laws were sponsored by Mr. Mondell himself after his term in the house. He hails from Wyoming which satisfies the requirement that the secretary of the interior be a western man.

A steady stream of members of the house have been telling the president the merits of Mr. Mondell for secretary of the interior. It's one of the curious phases of public life that this goes on for if there is anybody in Washington who has been in intimate touch with Leader Mondell and knows his qualifications it is the president himself. Mr. Mondell has persuaded some of the delegations which planned to go up to the White House to refrain from doing so. It puts him in an embarrassing position because the truth is he is not seeking the office.

Those members who have seen the president about it, however, have pointed out that in the next congress the Republican majority will be small and that there ought to be in the cabinet a man who is familiar with the membership in the house and with the ways of the house because it will be necessary for the administration to tread cautiously next session to get its projects through.

There has also sprung up a feeling that the present cabinet contains two former members of the senate and that if another senator is appointed the house will not feel happy about it.

But assuming that the president has made up his mind to appoint Mr. Mondell, it might be embarrassing for him to announce such an appointment as these are critical days and the administration would probably be spared criticism if it did not make any choice. There is always the possibility that critics might say that the Republican leader was acting at the behest of the administration on pending legislation because of his announced connection with the cabinet after March 4th.

Then, too, if the president should feel like appointing some one else there would be disappointment in the house at a time when it is to the advantage of the administration to have as good feeling as possible toward its pending measures.

Under the circumstances with no special advantage in announcing an appointment at this date and with some possible disadvantages in doing so, the selection is being delayed. Secretary Fall is anxious to get away March 4th and will have to spend some time familiarizing his successor with the routine of the interior department, but it is not unlikely that if the president asked him to stay a fortnight longer for that purpose he would consent to do so. The president could make a recess appointment of a cabinet officer after March 4th if he liked but the

THE BEAUTY OF HEALTH

Newspapers and magazines are devoting columns to magic or overnight beautifiers. There is a beauty in health that is far more attractive to men than mere regularity of features or a made-up complexion. Health should be the first essential of women who want to win and hold admiration, respect and love. At the first indication of ill health as indicated by dark circles under the eyes, a sallow complexion, headaches, backache, pain in the side, nervousness, irritability and melancholia, women should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the standard remedy for women's ills, which has been proven to help 98 out of every 100 women who try it.—Advertisement.

You Can Quickly Limber Up Sore, Stiff, Swollen Joints

Even Chronic Rheumatic Swellings in Knee, Elbow, Shoulder or Finger Joints Yield to the Mighty Powerful Influence of JOINT-EASE.

It's here, right in town and Fisher & Smith Pharmacy and every live druggist has it.

It's a low price remedy, to be sure, but that doesn't stop it from taking the kinks, lameness or torture out of your troubled joints.

JOINT-EASE is the name, so called because it is compounded solely for the purpose of relieving all joint ailments.

Just rub it on the tormented, lame joints and in just a few seconds it will penetrate to the bone and blessed comfort comes quickly. It absorbs instantly and is so clean and stainless that you can rub it on and get thereby, results much more quickly, when the joint is inflamed and the agony intense.

Being such a powerful counter irritant, it cannot help bringing speedy and helpful results in congestion, sore throat, chest colds, lumbago and neuralgia much quicker than almost any remedy you can buy.

But you must remember that it is for joint afflictions that it is mostly dispensed and its helpfulness will astonish you after all ordinary liniments and other treatments have failed.—Advertisement.

in their efforts to estimate the possibility of British mediation in the Ruhr. Soundings have been made in various directions, the newspaper says, adding that the results obtained all pointed towards a demand that Germany must give full assurance that guarantees would be forthcoming from the industrial magnates before a suggestion of mediation could be entertained.

This view, it is said, is held equally in circles opposed to mediation and those willing to discuss it. The article adds that Berlin has been fully informed of the situation and that "possibly in a few days developments may be expected to prove to the world that the German government feels itself strong enough to obtain the necessary guarantees from the magnates."

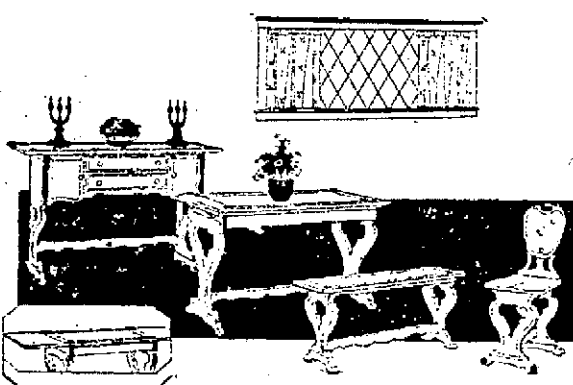

The Telegraph represents one pronouncedly pacifist section of public opinion as declaring that "not a finger could be lifted to help Germany unless she gripped her industrial magnates by the neck."

At the close of the afternoon a delicious salad and ice course was served. The appointments were in keeping with the Valentine season, and the decorations were of red hearts and white hyacinths.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Albert Schlichter of Third street.

The guests who enjoyed the meeting were Mrs. John Watson, Mrs. Louis Shelton, Mrs. William Torgue, Mrs. Richard McKimney and the members present were Mrs. Lucille Adams, Mrs. George Day, Mrs. Carl Baer, Mrs. Gordon Frouman, Mrs. Herbert Kalk, Mrs. Albert Schlichter, Mrs. Albert Miller, Mrs. Robert Holbrook, and Mrs. C. If You Are Afraid of Smallpox or a Mad Dog Then You Should Be Afraid of the Cold Germ. Sanitary Rules to be Observed to Prevent, Relieve and Fight Colds.

Don't sit or work in an overheated room. Don't step out into the night air without your hat on or a coat or wrap over your shoulders. Don't allow your feet to become wet, numb and cold.

Don't go out if you are feeling ill. Keep your mouth and nostrils covered when you are near any person who is coughing or sneezing as cold germs are being sprayed like bullets from a machine gun.

DANGEROUS TO LIFE

Thousands of lives can be saved and much sickness prevented if people will only realize that the common cold is to be as much feared as smallpox or a mad dog.

Colds, no matter how mild they appear should never be allowed to drift down into the chest and lungs. Influenza or pneumonia, exceedingly dangerous to life often develop from neglected colds.

WHAT YOU SHOULD DO.

Flush the waste poisons from the intestines and bowels.

Keep the liver and kidneys active.

Drink plenty of pure water, at least eight glasses daily.

Stimulate the circulation, warm up the chilled stagnant blood.

Upon the first sign of a cold one of the best things you can do is to take a cupful of hot medicinal herb tea as this helps to increase the circulation and aids in ushering the bowels.

One of the best known remedies for the relief of colds is Bulgarian Herb Tea, famous all over the world for its powerful medicinal properties.

Bulgarian Herb Tea should be in every home in the land as a first aid to relieve and help break up colds.

Its gentle tonic and laxative qualities help nature to push the poisons from the bowels, stimulate the circulation, and aid materially to strengthen your physical resistance.

See your druggist at once and get a box of Bulgarian Herb Tea. Yourself or some member of the family may need it to quickly relieve a cold during the winter. Advertisement.

Real Comedy At The Sun

Yesterday matinee and night the Jack Ball Players again proved themselves very apt scholars in the art of making people laugh, with the extremely amusing comedy "She Walked In Her Sleep." It is doubtful if ever audiences laugh longer and harder than those who attended the Sun yesterday.

Miss Florence Lewin, after a three days rest, returned to the cast playing the leading role, "Daphne Arnold," the girl who walks in her sleep. Numerous amusing situations come of her wanderings while in a somnambulist state and much to the merriment of the audience, but very embarrassing for the characters in the story.

"She Walked In Her Sleep" is indeed a laughing success and one wonders not at the long run this comedy had in New York, as a clean entertainment.

The piece runs today and tomorrow, with a bargain matinee, Saturday at 2:30. "The Seventh Guest," a mystery and thrilling melodrama, said to be a close rival to "The Bat" as a thriller, is underlined for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, with the Geo. V. Hobart masterpiece, "Experience," for the last half of next week.

R. K. Day Dies At Home In Rarden; Had Been Prominent School Teacher For Years

Robert K. Day, veteran school master and one of the most widely known educators in Scioto county and Southern Ohio, answered the final summons shortly after Thursday midnight, when he succumbed to the effects of pneumonia and a skull fracture which he sustained in a fall several months ago.

Mr. Day was a native of Mt. Joy and at the age of seventeen years started teaching school and followed that profession continuously until he was stricken with the illness early in January, which caused his death. During his successful career as a teacher he taught at many places in the western part of the county and for the past twenty years he was principal of the Rarden schools, in that position he had unbounded success and the school for several years under his management enjoyed the distinction of having the highest average of graduates of any high school in the state of the same grade.

For the past several years he lived with his family in this city, having bought a home on Scioto Trail. In politics he was a Democrat and a few years ago was a candidate for county recorder, but was defeated. He was a member of the Masonic body and in 1907 was elected master of the order of Brush Creek township the same year.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Lila Day, he is survived by three children, Mrs. Mable Thompson, wife of Artie Thompson, Rarden; Miss Ruth, an employee of the Sells Shoe Co., and John, both at home. Besides two daughters, Jerome Day, Poodles, and David T. Day, of this city, and two sisters, Mrs. Jesse Shannon, Xenia, and Mrs. Fessie Fom, Piquette. His parents are both dead.

Mr. Day was a splendid citizen and a credit to the teaching profession and his passing will be sincerely regretted by hundreds of his former pupils as well as a legion of friends throughout this section.

The funeral will be held Sunday from the Christian church at Mt. Joy, of which he was a member for many years.

Robert Kouton Day was born November 11, 1859, and was a son of David and Mary Elizabeth Jones Day. The family moved to Mt. Joy in 1874 from Venango county, Pennsylvania. He attended the public schools and prepared himself to teach. The season entered the teaching profession and had taught regularly until his last illness. He attended school a short time at the National Normal University at Lebanon and at the Ohio Normal University at Ada. During all this time he improved himself and until he had become one of the best teachers in the county. He was employed as principal of the Rarden school for two years and was elected Mayor of the town of Rarden, Ohio, township the same year.

Later he entered the teaching profession at Rarden and spent the remainder of his life there in the schools.

CINCINNATI, O., Feb. 14.—A proposal for affiliation of the two state wide teachers' associations in Ohio—the League of Ohio Teachers, and the Ohio State Teachers' Association—is being urged by E. F. Macke, an organizer of the league. Copies of the unification plans are being circulated among the teachers, with an appeal that they unite to increase their influence.

Many articles of furniture also were in the mortuary chamber. A large crowd of visitors and newspaper men had assembled early in the morning in anticipation of the unearthing. Before the work was started, impressions of the seals on the masonry were taken by the eminent Egyptologist James H. Breasted and Allen Gardiner.

NEW YORK, February 16.—(By the Associated Press)—The tomb of pharaoh Tutankhamun, opened by explorers today in the Valley of the Kings near Luxor, is by far the richest treasure trove ever uncovered in the necropolis of ancient Thebes and in all likelihood is the richest that ever will be discovered. Amrose Lansing, acting curator of the Egyptian section of the Metropolitan Museum of Art, declared today.

Tombs of practically all the early rulers of Egypt have been accounted for, most of them thoroughly looted by native grave robbers, said Mr. Lansing, who has spent much time himself with Metropolitan expeditions delving in the old burial places.

"There are only two or three royal tombs left to look for," he said, "and they are those of lesser kings for instance those of Semenkharu, who reigned for a few months before Tutankhamun and Ay, who reigned for an equally short time after Tutankhamun's death. All the others have been opened, a few by explorers, but the most of them by vandals who left nothing of importance behind them."

Royal furniture, chariots, ornaments and work of art of rare beauty and fine workmanship, already have been found in unprecedented quantities in the outer chamber of Tutankhamun's tomb.

But treasures of great value in the eyes of the Egyptologists, bits of historical data of the era ante-dating Christ by thirteen and a half centuries—are hoped for when the hieroglyphic inscriptions within the tomb itself have been translated.

One of the most fascinating theories the records in the tomb may confirm or explode, is that advance by Arthur Wiegall, former inspector general of antiquities to the Egyptian government, and one of the best known Egyptologists that Tutankhamun was the Pharaoh who oppressed the children of Israel, and whose army pursuing the Israelites at the time of the exodus, is declared in Biblical accounts to have been swallowed up in the Red Sea.

MERSHON CONFESSES TO PAYROLL ROBBERY

CINCINNATI, O., Feb. 16.—Clay Meyer Packing Company money and Mershon, Jr., 29 years old, of this city, who was arrested in Portsmouth, Ohio, several days ago, confessed, according to the police today, of being one of the men who held up the H. H. Meyer Packing Company paymaster here on Feb. 3 and robbing him of $3,800.

The police say the confession was made after Mershon was told of the arrest in New Orleans, La., of James Maloney, 18, of Norwood, Ohio. Mershon is said to have admitted that the $865 which was found by detectives in a house in the west end here yesterday is part of the Mershon, who was arrested here by Deputy Sheriff Carl Schneider, has numerous relatives in the city and on the West Side. Fishermen's Bill Passes; Tax Must Be Paid

COLUMBUS, O., February 16.—(By the Associated Press)—After a fight of several years, conducted by the state department of fish and game, fishermen's license legislation today seemed likely to find its way to Ohio statute books.

The house which on Wednesday, failed to cast a majority vote for the bill of Senator Atwood, of Franklin county, providing that disciples of Osage Walton, more than 18 years old, must pay for the privilege of fishing in Ohio streams, yesterday reconsidered its vote and passed the bill by the majority of 80 to 20.

Before it was approved in the lower chamber, however, the Atwood bill was amended to include the waters of the Lake Erie fishing district and to provide that persons owning land traversed or abutted by streams or other bodies of water, must pay licenses unless the public is permitted to fish in them.

The house amendments were quickly concurred in by the senate and the bill now will go to Governor Donahay by whom supporters of the bill say it will be signed. Fees charged under the bill would be fifty cents annually for residents of the state and an additional ten cents for a clerk's fee and $2 for non-residents plus 25 cents for clerk's fees.

COLUMBUS, O., February 16.—(By the Associated Press)—Taxes on incomes and on gasoline used to propel motor vehicles over the public highways, are proposed in measures before the state legislature. The income tax is a part of the program of the "uniform rule bloc" of the house by the state department of highways. City and counties also would receive a portion of the proceeds of the tax to maintain streets and roads directly under their care.

Manufacturers and importers of gasoline would pay the tax to the secretary of state, making monthly reports on the number of gallons sold. Since the tax would be charged only on gasoline used in the operation of motor vehicles on the highways, persons who used the fuel for other purposes, would make affidavit to the state showing the number of gallons used for stationary engines, tractors, motor boats and aircraft, and refund would be made.

A provision apparently intended to prevent use of the tax funds for high priced roads was contained in the measure. It would prevent the expenditure of more than $1,000 in any one mile of inter-county or market road in any one year.

The division of the funds would be made on the basis of 20 per cent to cities, 20 per cent to counties and 60 per cent to the state.

The state's portion of the money would be split into two shares, one of two-thirds, to be used exclusively in graveling and otherwise bettering the market and inter-county roads and the other one-third to be used in resurfacing and widening roads already taken over and improved by the state.

Neither the house nor senate was in session today, both having adjourned over the weekend in order that their finance committees might start on inspection trips which will take them to Wooster and Cleveland.

The gasoline tax, proposed in a bill introduced by Representative Brown, Republican, of Champaign county, is designed primarily to furnish funds for the putting in passable condition of main market and inter-county roads not yet taken over and improved by the state. The work on these highways would be conducted

SOCIAL NEWS

Members of the J. G. C. Club were cordially received by Miss Betty Vaughn last evening at her home, 1722 High street. The hours were pleasantly occupied in dainty needlework and near the close of the evening the guests were invited into the dining-room, where a delicious two-course lunch was served. The table was charmingly appointed in keeping with the Valentine season, red hearts and Valentines being used in the favors and decorations, and places were marked for the Misses Inez Starcher, Bess Cofer, Lillian Mitchell, Minnie Franck and Mrs. Earl Mumper of the club members. Miss Margaret Hoelle was a guest for the evening.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Miss Inez Starcher, in two weeks.

The engagement of Miss Marie Schlichter and Mr. Sidney Lawson was announced Thursday evening at a party given by Miss Edith Cunliffe at her home, 1012 Eighth street. The evening was pleasantly spent in cards, dancing and other social pastimes and the interesting announcement was made during the refreshment hour when the guests were assembled at a beautifully appointed table, centered with a miniature bride and groom which red ribbons extended to the places, marked with red hearts. The honor guest's place was signified with a corsage of roses from her fiancé, while tiny colonial bouquets of candles were given to the other guests. Covers were laid for members of the S. D. G. Club, including Mrs. Robert Clare, Misses Marie Schlichter, Minnie and Martha Clare, Elizabeth Dudit and Doris Dupuy, and Mrs. A. E. Cunliffe, Mrs. Floyd Lawson and Mrs. George Schlichter.

Miss Schlichter, the youngest daughter of Mrs. George Schlichter of Third street, is among Portsmouth's most attractive young girls. Mr. Lawson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Lawson of Grant street, is connected with his father's furniture business, the Flood and Lawson Co., in the East End. No date has been chosen for the wedding but it will be included among the late spring social events.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Nagel and Norman Hart of Detroit, Mich., who were called here by the death of the former's brother, Mr. Louis Nagel, of Wheelersburg, will visit with Mrs. J. F. Warner of Robinson avenue before returning home.

Rev. W. C. Brady, pastor of the Manly church, will address his sermon Sunday evening to the members of the Woman's Home Missionary Society of this organization and their friends are cordially invited to be present and hear the interesting message Rev. Brady has prepared for them.

The King's Herald and Little Light Bearers of Trinity church will hold a Valentine party in the basement of the church Saturday afternoon from two to four o'clock. A thank offering for a mission will be taken at this time and all children are asked to come prepared to give their donation.

Mrs. A. J. Weber of 2114 Vinton avenue will go to Detroit, Mich., tomorrow morning to see her brother, Mr. Bernard Compliment, who is seriously ill with pneumonia. Another sister, Mrs. Joseph Orthmeyer, of Seidoville, has been at his bedside for the past week. Mr. Compliment is a former resident of this city and his many friends here will be sorry to learn of his illness.

Mrs. W. W. Robinson of Gallia street went to Oak Hill this morning to see her sister, Mrs. J. E. Doherty, who recently returned from the Protestant Hospital in Columbus, where she has been recuperating from a long illness.

Dear Miss Wise—Will you please tell me the real name of the author who signs his or her name "Ouida"? Her name is Louise de la Ramée.

Dear Dolly—I have been going with a man for five months and I want to ask you what you think about him? He has light hair and blue eyes and is about five feet tall. Do you think he is pretty? He seems to love me. Do you think he does?

I can not pass on his beauty unless you bring him down or send me his picture. After I size him up I will also tell you how much he loves you.

Stenog—It would be all right to give him an inexpensive present.

STOMACH TROUBLES ARE DUE TO ACIDITY

Tells Safe, Certain, Speedy Relief For Acid Indigestion

So-called stomach troubles, such as indigestion, gas, sourness, stomachic, in probability nine cases out of ten, are due to acidity. The evidence is plain and convincing that excessive secretion of acid is taking place in the stomach, causing the formation of gas and acid indigestion.

Gas distends the stomach and causes that full, oppressive, burning feeling sometimes known as heartburn, while the acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach. The trouble lies entirely in the excess development or secretion of acid.

To stop or prevent this souring of the food contents of the stomach and to neutralize the acid and make it bland and harmless, a teaspoonful of Bisulphate of Magnesia, a food and effective corrector of acid stomach, should be taken in a quarter of a glass of hot or cold water after eating or whenever gas, sourness, or acidity is felt. This sweetens the stomach and neutralizes the acidity in a few moments and is a perfectly harmless and trustworthy remedy to use.

An antacid, such as Bisulphate of Magnesia which can be obtained from any druggist, in either powder or tablet form enables the stomach to do its work properly without the aid of artificial digestants. Magnesia comes in several forms, so be certain to ask for and take only Bisulphate of Magnesia, which is especially prepared for the above purpose. —Advertisement.

Adventures Of The Twins

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Mix-up Land was full of queer things. When the Twins left King Evening-Steven and started toward the palace of Jack Straw (who had no business to be there), and saw some wonderful sights.

The first was a baker-man who was putting a large baking of bread into a stone oven. To the amazement of the Twins the next thing he did was to pile some large chunks of ice under the oven and close the door.

"I do hope the oven won't get warm today and spoil my bread," he said to the children. "Yesterday the sun came out and the ice started to melt and the bread got sour. One can't have good bread unless he has an ice-cold oven."

"How very strange," said Nancy. "Where we live the ovens must be hot to bake the bread."

"Ah, then you don't live in Mix-up Land," said the baker-man. "Everything is changed around here. No doubt you make doughnuts with holes in the middle, also."

VAL of PARADISE

by Angie S. Roe

"Val," murmured Velantrie and said no more.

"Velantrie!" screamed the girl, unconscious of the staring crowd. "Oh, Donald!"

Then her father's hand was on her shoulder, lifting her bodily, a dozen other hands pulled the man away from her, and in the flurry that followed she found herself swung helplessly into the air, the reins put in her fingers.

"Tide," said John Hannon beside her, and she rode—but the earth and the heavens tumbled about her and twice in the silent journey, when he did not delude to look back where danger certainly lurked in that bunch of men who followed Velantrie, the Boss of Paradise had to steady his daughter in her saddle.

Not one word did he ask her, then.

"BRING ON THE PEPPER"

A spicy bit from the biggest show hit of the year. Bennie Kravitz's Famous Orchestra adds a full jazz band introduction. Like all Brunswick Records, it is a true reproduction—crystal clear; every word plain, not a note missed. Good as going to the show. "Come on Home," another Brox Sisters' hit, is on the other side.

Thin? Run-down? Sure Way to Get Right Weight

Increase Your Red-Blood Cells. That's the Sure Way! S. S. S. Builds Blood—Cures! This Means Strength!

Do you know why insurance companies refuse to insure a great many men because they are under weight? Simply because to be under weight often proves low fighting-power in the body. It often means you are minus nerve-power, minus red-cells in your blood, minus health, minus energy, minus vitality. It is serious to be minus, but the moment you increase the number of your red-blood-cells, you begin to become plus. That's why S. S. S., since 1820, has meant to thousands of underweight men and women a plus in their strength. Hollow cheeks fill out. You stop being a callipygus. You inspire confidence. Your body fills to the point of power. Your flesh becomes firmer, the age lines that come from thinness disappear. You look younger, firmer, happier and you feel it, too, all over your body. More red-blood-cells! S. S. S. will build them. Ladies and gentlemen, a peppy, buoyant face doesn't make you look very important or pretty, does it? Take S. S. S. It contains only pure vegetable medicinal ingredients. S. S. S. is sold at all drug stores in two sizes. The larger size bottle is the more economical.

MRS. CLARK IS AMAZED OVER QUICK RELIEF

"I have often talked to people who were enthusiastic about Tanlac, but I never realized what a grand medicine it is until I took it myself," said Mrs. Margaret Clark, of 1783 E. 17th St., Cleveland, Ohio, recently.

"For several months, I have been in such a run-down, nervous condition that I just felt worn-out and miserable all day long and couldn't get any restful sleep at night. I was suffering from indigestion, backaches, headaches, and dizzy spells, my appetite was leaving me and I was steadily losing weight and strength."

"But the change Tanlac has made in me is nothing less than wonderful. I have taken three bottles of the treatment and I haven't an ailment of any kind. I'm getting the finest and most restful sleep I've had in years, and I have strength and energy aplenty. Now, no one has more faith in Tanlac than I."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Over 35 million bottles sold.

A thousand things moiled through her mind and she gave them voice, secure in the loving friendship that encompassed her.

"Tom," she said, "I asked dad once what constituted a good man—and he said 'a brave one, quick on the trigger.' What would you say?"

The foreman smoked silently a while. Then he knocked the ash from his cigaret.

"A good man, Val," he said, "is the man who deals squarely by his fellows and has such honest love of humanity in his heart that he can help the helpless, even at risk of his neck—such love for one woman that he can serve her all his life, either rewarded or unrewarded—a man who can sacrifice."

What gentle intent was in the speaker's mind only he knew, and he said no more. But Val had instant food for thought—as perhaps he had intended.

"SHOOT HIM—TOM, STRAIGHT IN—IN THE FOREHEAD—FOR ME!"

And then, sudden as a shot in the silence, came the voice of Perly from the other hammock.

"Tom," he cried sharply, "look there! An' there—an' yonder!"

With a spring the boy was on his feet, a slim shape, straight in the dusk.

"Good God!" he cried again, "th' signal-fires! Boys—th' Rustler rides—tonight!"

Without another word he flung himself from the patio and they heard the sound of his running feet as he went toward the corals. True enough. From down at the south line there rose on the still dark a tall pillar of flame that was already answered from the southwest and the west.

Tom Briston stood tense, reading their messages.

"Raid," the one fire said, "at the Flying X."

He turned and looked west.

"We circle south," three red flares said.

Southeast two signals placed far apart told the rangeland, "We ride north," and beside the tall fire at the south two small ones close together bore Clendenning's faithful promise.

"We'll close in on the Blind Trail pass from the south."

Thus was a net formed, a trap laid, and anything driving within its circle had best ride fast for the pass—for the horses of the plains would soon be out. And they were hard to beat, those horses that had run at Santa Leandra. Dollar, the gallant gray with the dapples on his hip—Silkskin, swift as waters flowing, black and wild—and all of Hannon's Red Dood that stamped in the home corrals—for the ranchers were pledged to this and all must go.

With one accord the cowboys followed Perly, shouting, snatching spur and bridle as they ran—the guitar out at the bunk-house ceased its strumming, stopped by a flattened hand on its strings—the vaquer- os ran to the horses, too.

Only Briston was left for a moment standing in the patio. A gasp caught his ear—a deep, short breath that seemed to come from drowning lungs—and Val Hannon stood beside him, swaying on her feet like a drunkard.

"Tom," she gasped, still as if she could not breathe. "Tom—my friend—"

Briston caught her tightly in the bend of his arm and looked into her face that shone white in the dark like a moon in fog.

"Yes, Val darling," he said.

"If—" Again that awful gasping breath.

The girl gripped her hands, steadied her swaying body with the old sweet strength. Then the words came a bit more strongly.

"If—they catch the—Black Rustler this night—don't—let—them—the Crag Oak—"

She wet her lips that were stiff and cold—reached out a groping hand and touched the gun that always hung at the foreman's belt.

"Shoot—him, Tom," she said thickly, "straight—ah!"—it was a sighing breath—"in—the—forehead—for me!"

"I will," said Briston and was gone.

CHAPTER XX
"Greater Love Hath No Man"

COUGH KEMP'S BALSAM

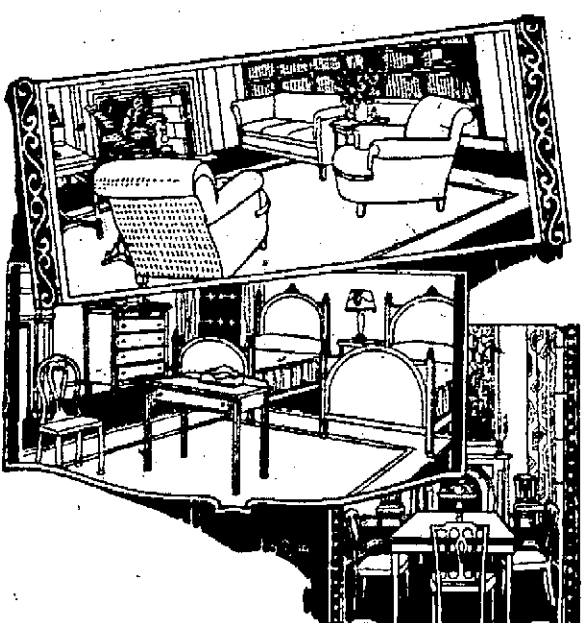

TRAGEDY breathed upon the rangeland. Father Hillaire felt it, pacing in his dry garden.

Belle Hannon felt it and ceased her plaintive playing. She came, sure of foot in the darkness, to the east door that opened into the patio.

"Val!" she called.

Local Auto Show Vies With Those In The Biggest Cities

As Many Makes Shown Here As In Cincinnati; Don't Fail To See Display

"I really didn't expect anything so big and so well arranged," and "the attendance and interest manifested here and our fondest expectations" were some of the remarks and comments made by the visitors and local auto dealers at the opening of Portsmouth's first annual Automobile Show Thursday afternoon when there were several hundred paid admissions. The attendance on the first afternoon far exceeded the number expected present by members of the Portsmouth Automobile Dealers Association under whose auspices the auto exposition is being held. The show comes to a close Saturday night at eleven o'clock. The doors in the afternoon open at one o'clock.

The attendance and interest shown yesterday afternoon and evening clearly demonstrated that the public is more interested in automobiles than ever before in the history of the motor vehicle. The majority of the people who do not own motor cars at least like to see those of friends once in a while and their ambition is to own one of their own. Everyone who attended the show yesterday backs up the members of the Portsmouth Automobile Dealers Association in saying that the display is one of great credit to the city and one that will set a record for the dealers to aim at next year.

The 1923 models are the best automobiles ever manufactured. Makers have vied with each other in providing all the necessities for motoring with safety and comfort. In closed cars, especially, everything is furnished for the comfort of the passengers. There are in evidence many refinements not only in the chassis and body but in the entire car. Many changes which are not noticeable to the casual observer have been made. The engines are cleaner and more compact. Fewer parts are in evidence. The cars appear to be lower and beautiful color schemes, both exterior and interior, have been worked out. There are 75 cars exhibited in the local show and thirty different makes are represented. All the better known makes are shown with price tags marked in plain figures, and alert salesmen are ready to quote prices and point out the features in favor of their car. Salesmen are talking of the low rock prices and make it plain that there never was a time that the buyer could get more automobile for his money than right now. Early buying is also urged as it is possible that with low prices there will be a big demand which will end in a shortage and an advance in prices.

An "accessories show," conducted in connection with the automobile exhibit, received its share of attention yesterday afternoon and evening. This show is on the ground floor and is for fire, oil and gasoline and parts dealers.

The entertainment features of the show proved popular yesterday. Concerts by the famous Esberger band of Cincinnati are followed by singing by Miss Helen Hofer, Cincinnati's premier soprano. A special feature last evening was a dance by little Miss Nellie Gableman who gave several fancy dances about nine o'clock.

The admission price is twenty-five cents and that pays for everything, including the musical entertainment which is alone worth the quarter of a dollar charged.

BRINGING UP FATHER

PICKED UP AT THE AUTO SHOW

The Windel Motor Car Company reported the first sale of the show, when they sold a Franklin four-door sedan to George D. Selby, of the Selby Shoe Company, Thursday afternoon.

F. W. Hammond, factory representative, is in charge of the demonstration of the special cut-out Rex Show chassis at Johnson Bros. display.

C. N. Kuhn, a Chandler representative, and A. E. Anson, a Cleveland "man," are helping E. O. Kuhlman point out the "real points" in their respective cars.

T. J. Coe, of the Portsmouth Auto Club, is on the job and wants your application for membership. It matters not whether you drive a new or old car.

The Selby Products have a novel display at their booth in the accessory show—a set of license tags for years 1909 to 1923 attracting much attention.

Crank Up Your "Ole Bus"; Visit Auto Show; It Is An Unqualified Success

"We have been playing at the Huntington Auto Show for several years, but they do not compare to your present show. It is a real hum-dinger and a credit to any city three times the size of Portsmouth," members of Esberger's band said last night as they gazed around at the big crowd, which jammed its way into the show.

Of course you have heard "Three O'clock in the Morning" and "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia," sung, but drop up to the Auto Show and hear Miss Helen Hofer sing these favorites. She is a real soloist and sing her way into the hearts of her listeners last night.

Employees of the Windel Motor company surely look prim in their tuxedos. It was a novel idea to wear them.

All the dealers were on hand last night diked out in their best bib and tuckers and were congratulated on the magnitude of the show and the gratifying large attendance for the opening night. It is a show that is sure to attract hundreds of people out of the city.

"Isn't it nice and warm in here," "Yes, it is warmer than it is at home." These expressions were heard many times last night as the big hall is comfortably warm.

John F. Taylor, owner of the huge garage in which the show is being held, was congratulated on all sides for his progressiveness. "I had no idea it was built on so large a scale," hundreds of people told Mr. Taylor.

The necessary department on the first floor is as complete as it is interesting. Handcuffs visitors it last night and learned a lot of little things that will help them in looking after their cars. Some of the exhibits are unusually complete and if you visit the show do not pass up the necessary department.

You will find a complete Radio outfit there and it is being operated by the General Service company. Last night a concert was enjoyed from Memphis.

E. O. Kuhlman has a Pike's Peak motor in running order and it is attracting much attention. It is operated by electricity.

A. C. Colburn, who is now employed by the Universal Motor company was conspicuous at the show last night and lined up several prospective div owners.

Dealers were on hand to see that visitors were given every attention. The show is an unqualified success from every standpoint.

Banner crowds are looked for Saturday afternoon and evening.

The spacious hall is beautifully decorated, nothing in a decorative way being left undone.

There is some talk of securing the old Universal garage at Ninth and Chillicothe streets when it is vacated to use it for a permanent display room for local dealers.

"I didn't know so many kinds of cars were hauled in Portsmouth," was an expression heard on all sides last night.

A. A. McLaughlin of Waverly was among the Pike county visitors to the show last night.

There are some live wires and "near vocalists" in the accessory divisions. They are always in high gear so shift into that department gurgling one with them. You will be welcome.

DEMAND FOR CARS CHANGES BUT LITTLE

Reports received by the Car Service Division of the American Railway Association show that on January 22 requisitions for freight cars in excess of the current supply amounted to 72,754 cars, a decrease since January 15, of 588 cars.

The shortage in box cars amounted to 26,961, a reduction of 1,322 within a week, while the shortage in coal cars totaled 37,698, which was however, an increase within the same period of 494 cars. The shortage in stock cars showed a reduction of 75 since January 15, which brought the total to 2,010. Shortage in railroad owned refrigerator cars totaled 1,862, or a reduction within a week of 399, while the coke car shortage increased 271 cars within the same length of time, bringing the total to 587 cars.

At the same time surplus freight cars in good repair and immediately available for service amounted on January 22 to 26,485, a reduction since January 15, of 1,797.

Surplus coal cars in good repair totaled 6,609, an increase of 544 within a week, while surplus box cars totaled 6,929, a decrease of 650 compared with the total on January 15. Surplus stock cars numbered 5,737, a reduction of 546 within the seven-day period.—Railroad Data, Feb. 9.

Thrilling Rescue On Scaling Ladder!

High upon the balcony she stood, a grim specter outlined by the searchlight against the flaming, smoking walls. Down in the teeming street, a riot of panic and disorder, stood the father, struck to the heart by terror as he saw the smoke engulf his daughter and blot her completely from view. Then the thrilling rescue!

That, briefly, is but one of the terrific action situations in the great fireman's melodrama, "The Third Alarm," which opens an engagement Monday at the Eastland Theatre where it will be officially dedicated to Chief Robert Leedom of the Local Fire Department and the brave and loyal men of his command.

"The Third Alarm" is a companion picture to "In the Name of the Law," a police drama of unusual proportions which is still entertaining millions of theatregoers throughout the world. It is built on the same huge lines but with far more thrilling action than was developed in the production which immortalized the American policeman.

Emory Johnson produced both productions, impelled by his long and fervent regard for policemen and firemen, to whom, he thought, the public owed a great debt of gratitude which it had long neglected to pay.

While "The Third Alarm," has been invested with truly magnificent love interest and stupendous dramatic thrills, it also shows what hazards the fireman confronts, how he struggles manfully to support his family, how he goes to his duty, no matter how great the danger, and how, in the end, the public is all too likely to forget what a fine and noble work the fire-fighter has achieved. At no time, does Mr. Johnson become preachy. "The Third Alarm" is first of all entertainment, but in the development of his lonely theme, Mr. Johnson has gone far beyond the mere individuals with whom he has told his story and shows the noble and unselfish instincts which actuate the average fireman in the pursuit of his duty.

In the cast are such well known players as Ralph Lewis, in the role of the veteran fire-fighter Johnnie Walker, Ella Hall, Richard Morris, and others. F.B.O. is distributing the production.

WITH THE SICK

Norma White, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orville White, of 1221 Franklin avenue, is ill with an attack of measles.

McCarty Confesses To Killing Malone; Claims In Self Defense

The Wellston Sentinel says: "Jack McCarty, charged with the murder of Hail Malone on the Natural Ridge in the southern part of Vinton county Saturday afternoon, and held at McArthur jail on the charge, made a confession to Sheriff Fletcher Collins yesterday, in which he admitted firing the shot that killed Malone.

According to McCarty's statement, he caught up with Malone and James Napper and that he and Malone had an argument, the latter stopping while Napper proceeded on his way. The argument became heated, McCarty said, and Malone threatened to kill him and reached for his pistol. "I saw the handle of his gun," stated McCarty, "and beat him to it."

Two Candidates A busy session was held Thursday night by River City Camp, Woodmen of the World. Degree work was conferred on two candidates, L. T. Carter and Earl Abbott and the petitions of Homer Kelly and Bert Stone were received.

Plans were discussed for a public meeting to be held March 8, when State Manager Louis Stoffel, of the Woodmen and State Manager William Reuss, of the Woodmen of the Circle, will be here to make addresses. A lunch and smoker were enjoyed at the close of the meeting.

SOCIETY

Miss Gladys Whitl will arrive home this evening from Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, to spend the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Whitl of Sciotoville.

Miss Temple Mosser came down from Ohio State University last evening to spend the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clay Seoley, of 1293 Franklin avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Hall of 1221 Franklin avenue left this morning for Jacksonville, Florida, where they will sojourn for a month.

Fire Chief Indorses Third Alarm

Never before in the history of the amusement business has a civic official of such commanding stature as the Chief of the Fire Department come forth with an endorsement of a production on the screen or the stage. This unprecedented action, however, has just been taken by Fire Chief Robert Leedom of this city, who after reviewing "The Third Alarm" declared without equivocation that it is the greatest motion picture he has ever seen.

"The Third Alarm" which is, and fine humor, are scenes which scheduled for exhibition at the Eastland Theatre on Monday at this country undergo uncompromisingly, the perils they confront without batting an eyelash in the routine of their daily duties. When it was revealed for the first time to Chief Leedom at the Eastland his interest was great, indeed.

Chief Leedom, after reviewing the production, said: "It tops anything I've seen before. It pays a stunning tribute to the courage of the firemen but beyond organ that it is a great, big wholesome dramatic entertainment. I enjoyed every foot of it."

Engineer To Investigate Both Roads; Hearing Held

Hearing on a petition to the state director for a change of location in the Portsmouth-Oak Hill road being held at a point about one-third mile east of the end of the present road, and extending to Scioto Furnace, to either of the two proposed routes, was conducted at the Court House Thursday by John M. Graham, of Chillicothe, division engineer of the state department, who at the outset stated that the change of location was deemed necessary in order to eliminate unusual grades on the present route over Allegheny hill.

Of the two new routes proposed, one is via the way of Happy Hollow which is eight-tenths of a mile longer than the other which is known as the Gephart station route. The distance between the two points over the old road is 4.81 miles as compared with 5.203 miles by Happy Hollow and 4.300 miles by Gephart.

Two delegations of farmers from that section appeared espousing the route which they favored, Judge A. T. Holcomb and Fred Turner, being the principal speakers for those favoring the Gephart route while Dr. H. H. Sullard, Attorney George W. Sheppard, G. L. Yeley, J. L. Robinson and others acted as spokesmen for the delegation from the Happy Hollow section.

Judge Holcomb endorsed the Gephart route, declaring that it appeared to him the most practical as well as the most feasible route looking to the future than the other way and pointed out that it was shorter by nearly a mile, can be built on more level ground and at less expense. He asserted that it was also the most direct route.

Mr. Turner emphasized the need of an improved road as an outlet to the Gephart Station district, especially should the present road be closed or abandoned.

George D. Selby, well-known shoe manufacturer, declared that the Gephart route was the most direct, but he had no choice, expressing the hope that Allegheny hill may be avoided.

Cuticura Heals Pimples Scattered All Over Face

"I was troubled with pimples that were scattered all over my face. The pimples were hard, large and red, and very sore when touched. They festered and itched and burned, and my face looked awful. I tried different remedies but to no avail."

"I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. I could see from the beginning that it was helping me so purchased more, and after using one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Margaret Larkin, 3721 Wabansia Ave., Chicago, Ill.

and that selfish interest would be laid aside to the end that the route which would be the most benefit to the greatest number would be selected. He urged that the advantages and disadvantages of the two proposed routes be taken up carefully and compared and that each be measured on its merit.

Speakers for the Happy Hollow route in presenting their claims, declared that their route was the most practical and that it would accommodate a greater number of people and pass through a better agricultural district, that the cost of construction would be less per mile by reason of the Gephart route requiring an entirely new grade, whereas the old road on the Happy Hollow route can be used.

At the close of the hearing Engineer Graham stated that he expected to make a personal investigation and make report to the State Director before decision is given in the matter. He further stated that in the event the B. and O. Railroad Company caused the state as much difficulty in connection with this road as it had in other parts of the state, this fact would weigh against the Gephart route.

Fournier Refuses To Go To Brooklyn
ST. LOUIS, Mo., Feb. 16.—(Refusal of Jacques Fournier, St. Louis National first baseman to report to the Brooklyn Nationals, to which he was traded yesterday for "Rip" Myers, outfielder and a year's option on Ray Schumacher, first baseman, was based on personal business reasons he said here today, and not on antipathy toward the Brooklyn club.

Samuel Breiden, president of the St. Louis Nationals who negotiated the exchange of players at the national league meeting in New York said he did not anticipate any difficulty in signing up Myers, who was reported to be holding out for an increase in salary from the Brooklyn club.

B. & O. Pay Day
Yesterday was pay day for B. & O. employees and they did not mind the wintry blasts that swept the city. They had plenty of currency to warm themselves.

"The Third Alarm" is scheduled for his initial exhibition at the East-hand theatre on Monday. That the fireman is a vital factor in the welfare of any community is brought out with smashing dramatic power in "The Third Alarm." It shows not only how diligently he serves but it also depicts in thrilling scenes dangers he confronts, the perils he faces uncomplainingly in the daily pursuit of his duties.

"The Third Alarm" unfolds a story that is right down to the level of the average American citizen and the members of his family. Its producer, Mr. Emory Johnson, has told the whole truth about the fireman just as he told the truth about the policeman in his epic photoplay "In the Name of the Law." Believing that the nation owed a just debt not only to the fire fighters of the big cities but to those of the smaller communities as well Mr. Johnson has created "The Third Alarm" as a means of paying this debt of gratitude to the men who risk their lives day in and day out that our property may be safe-guarded.

Market News

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—Resumption of the demand for copper, oil and independent steel shares, furnished a firm tone to opening prices in today's stock market. Gulf States steel opened 1 1/4 higher and Corro de Pasco copper up 1, led the early advance in that group. U. S. Industrial Alcohol established a new high record on a gain of 5/8. California Petroleum rose one point to 80 also a new high record. Partial recovery from recent heaviness was noted in the sugar group, Cuba Cane preferred rising a point and American Beet Sugar 7 1/2.

Early gains were extended as trading progressed. The Pan American issues assumed leadership of the oil group, the A rising 2 points and the B 1 1/4. Phillips Petroleum duplicated its previous high on a gain of a point. Houston and Pacific Oils also advanced a point. Kennecott Copper crossed 41 to a new top for the year and moderate gains were made by Utah, Inspiration and Chile. Federal Refining and Smelting preferred yielded a point on profit taking and Columbia dropped 3/4. American Can also receded slightly on realizing sales.

Rails continued to trail behind the industrials but moderate gains were recorded by the St. Paul preferred, Canadian Pacific and Atlantic Coast Line. North American and Public Service, of N. J., each up 1, were the strong spots of the public utility group.

Foreign exchanges were steady, demand sterling establishing a new top for the year at 4.83, which duplicates the December high which in turn was the highest rate recorded in two years.

The upward movement of prices continued throughout the morning. Bidding up of virtually all groups in the face of the higher rate demanded for all forms of monetary accommodations apparently discouraged certain short interests whose covering operations accelerated the upward trend. American Can continued reactionary in response to heavy profit taking sales but gains of 2 1/4 to 3 1/4 points were registered before noon by Pan American A, Phillips Petroleum, Midwater Oil, Air Reduction, Granby Copper, DuPont and Manhattan Electrical Supply with more than a score of others showing gains of one to two points. Call money opened at 5 1/2 per cent.

Stock prices continued their movement to higher ground in today's broad and active market. Coppers and oils were bought heavily in response to rising commodity prices while the lower money rates, a new high record for sterling exchange and reports of more favorable dividend disbursements had a cheerful effect on sentiment. Sales approximated 1,400,000 shares.

The closing was strong.

Chicago Grain And Provisions

CHICAGO, Feb. 16.—Absence of any renewal of yesterday's heavy selling led to a moderate upturn of prices in the wheat market today during the early dealings. The fact that rural offerings of all kinds of grain were light tended further to restore some measure of confidence among bulls and so likewise did the indifferent response which the Liverpool market made to declines in America.

Notice was taken of a reduction in estimates of the Argentine exportable surplus of wheat. The opening which varied from unchanged figures to 5c higher with May 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 and July 1 1/2 to 1 1/4 was followed by gains all around. Corn and oats were firm with wheat. After opening 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 to 7 1/4 the corn market scored a slight additional upturn.

The close was steady at 1/4 to 3/4 net advance, May 75 to 75 1/4. Oats started 3 1/4 high May 46 1/2 to 46 1/4 and later continued to harden. Bight quotations on hogs gave a little strength to provisions. The close was unsettled 1/4 to 1c net higher May 1 1/2 to 1 1/4 and July 1 1/2 to 1 1/4.

THE WOOL MARKET

BOSTON, Feb. 16.—The Commercial Bulletin tomorrow will say: "The demand for wool has been rather irregular and on the whole hardly so heavy as a week ago. Prices, however, keep very firm as they ought, in view of the fact that this is still the cheapest market in the world. Foreign wools have comprised the bulk of the business although some domestic and bright fleeces have been moved also at firm prices."

"Contracting in the west is still evidently very desultory and still week's high prices do not appear to have been topped; in fact it would seem as if less buying had been done this week than last. The goods market is healthy but not especially active."

Mysteries

At Sea

SEATTLE, WASH., February 16.—(By the United Press)—Mysteries woven only as tragedies and disasters at sea, can weave them, came out of the storm-ridden waters along the Washington and British Columbian coasts, where probably half a dozen ships are burned or wrecked, 100,000 standing in the reports of the sea were:

A report that a mystery ship sailed by some sources to be a freighter and described by radio advices as apparently a passenger ship, was off Pichena Point of the west coast of Vancouver Island. The steamer Santa Rita a total wreck. The British freighter Tustan Prince a total loss. Fate of her crew not clear. The motor ship Cootin is breaking up in the seas. Her crew is safe. The wooden lumber carrier Nika, burned to the water's edge. Total loss. Crew safe. An unidentified vessel for which tugs are searching, reported ashore.

Family Has A Thrilling Experience With Mad Dog

Scott Noel and daughter, Miss Nora and son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. James Thompson of Buena Vista had a thrilling experience yesterday when their bull dog developed rabies.

It killed a poodle dog in the home and when Mr. Noel opened the door leading to the room occupied by the dog it jumped at him and he was fortunate enough to pin the dog's head in the door. A poker was secured and the animal apparently was put out of its misery. Mr. Noel carried it to his backyard and when he later started out to bury the dog it was missing. It had recovered from the blows over the head and had disappeared.

It was later seen two miles this side of Buena Vista, where all further trace of it was lost.

During the excitement, Mr. Thompson, who has been ill suffered a fainting spell.

BASKETBALL FACTS

Q. The players of the team leading near the end of the game began passing the ball back and forth to each other under the opponents' goal. An argument arose as to whether this was sportsmanlike. The claim was made the referee could stop it. Is this so?

A. The referee cannot. There is nothing in the amateur or professional code to prevent this "stalling."

Q. A player shoot a floor goal. Before referee blows his whistle another player of same team shoots another. Does second goal count?

A. It does not. Ball is dead after first goal and play ceases until ball has been put in play at center.

Q. Does the Spaulding Official Basketball Guide cover both amateur and professional rules?

A. Amateur rules only are covered by this guide.

Q. In amateur games, can any player, other than captain, call for time out if not injured?

A. Captain only may do so. He is the only player permitted to speak to an official except a substitute ordering the game or a player who desires to leave the court during time out.

Q. A player dribbles down the floor. An opponent gets in his way and they collide. Which one makes the foul?

A. The referee must decide. You see a player guarding another who is dribbling is not allowed to charge into the dribbler nor get in his way to stop him. Neither is the dribbler allowed to charge into an opponent. One must see such a play to judge it.

CHEERFUL AND HAPPY AFTER SEVERE ATTACK OF NEURITIS

MRS. CARRIE LENTZ, GROVE CITY, O.

Now Does Her Own Housework and Never Felt Better in Her Life Since Taking Ka-di-ok.

Mrs. Carrie Lentz, a well-known resident of Grove City, in a signed statement expresses her deep appreciation for the way Ka-di-ok helped her. She says: "Before I started taking Ka-di-ok I had neuritis so bad that I could scarcely get out of bed; I could not even put up my hair and most of the time my little girl helped put it up the best she knew how. The neuritis also affected my ears and caused a stiffness in the back of my neck. I was practically helpless. I tried all kinds of liniments and massaging and rubbing, but did not get any better. I finally started taking Ka-di-ok and have continued using it for my housework and do not require any assistance to do up my hair or anything else. As a matter of fact, I never felt better in my life than I do at the present time. I cannot find words of praise strong enough to express my gratitude for the way Ka-di-ok has helped me."

Ka-di-ok can be obtained in Portsmouth at Fisher & Steich's Drug Store.

Sunday School Lesson

REV. G. W. O'NEILL, BUENA VISTA M. E. CHURCH

The conduct of Zacharias was natural enough, when we take into consideration his under-size, and his ardent desire to see so important a personage as Jesus who at that moment was passing by. His plan was feasible, and perhaps, the best that could have been devised for the occasion.

We feel that no creature was due to Zacharias in seeing the part of a spectator at this time, for many others, no doubt, were just as anxious as he. Yet when we see church members of today coming into the house of worship and posing as spectators, and expecting to be entertained, we feel that such conduct is not quite so commendable as was that of Zacharias.

Right gladly, Zacharias responded to the call to come down, in so doing he became the recipient of a three-fold blessing: the first, the privilege of receiving this noted personage into his home as his guest; second, salvation came to that home; third, Jesus revealed to his host the secret of his mission to the human race.

In generalizing the thoughts in this lesson, we find a great many people who ought to be invited to come down; not from the sycamore tree, literally, but from where they can not be used for the advancement of the Master's kingdom. We would invite men to come down from their position of spectator, or critic, with reference to the affairs of the church, or from the attitude of indifference, or from busy cares, or from foolish pride, or from their unbeliefs and hatreds, and open the doors of their hearts as Zacharias did the door of his home, and bid the Master to come in.

To such as are willing to thus come down, Jesus will come in; for he says "If any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him." This would cause the angels in Heaven to rejoice, and would prove a great blessing indeed, to the individual, especially when reverses come, or when the family circle is broken, and more especially when the soul is called out of this life through the gateway of death.

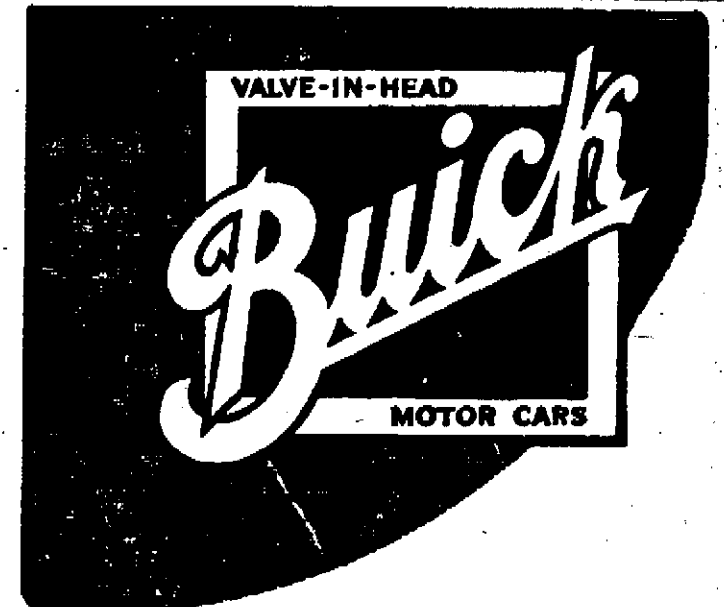

And, to such as are willing to admit this guest, the blessing of salvation is guaranteed. It means much to be saved from the penalty of sin, saved from the thrall of sin, and at last, saved from the very presence of sin, safe in that Heaven above.

And lastly, like it was with Zacharias, Jesus reveals himself to those who by faith have invited Him in. The Jews often were in doubt

Another Girl Goes Wrong

A very sad case came to my notice last week and I felt truly sorry, but then I couldn't prevent it and I did try so hard to tell her of her mistake. I talked for an hour and explained the difference between patent leather and patent colt and that my slippers were genuine hand welts and the ones she was offered were a much cheaper construction but she wouldn't listen, but she did stop in later to say I was right and she would be in soon to get a real pair of those patent colt sandals at six fifty. Silk hose too.

Mrs. Margaret Heiser Wilson

Margaret Heiser Wilson, daughter of Henry and Elizabeth (Heisenbein) Heiser, pioneer German residents of Waverly, Ohio, was born in that city on March 25, 1867, and died at the Seton hospital in Cincinnati, Ohio, on February 13, 1923, having nearly completed her fifty-sixth year.

Her childhood was spent in Waverly where she attended the public schools and where in the year 1881 she was confirmed into the faith of the German Evangelical church under the pastorate of the late Rev. William Hageman.

Ambitious for larger opportunities and service she left her native city in early womanhood and the cities of Columbus, Cleveland and Cincinnati, Ohio, were successfully the scenes of her labors and activities.

On July 16, 1901, at Columbus, Ohio, she was united in marriage to Pleasant F. Wilson.

For a number of years the Wilsons with great success conducted a rooming house and restaurant at Cincinnati. Mrs. Wilson possessed business ability and actively managed these enterprises and won the high regard and good will of their many patrons and business associates.

In the early fall, due to impaired health, Mrs. Wilson was compelled to retire from the restaurant business but continued the management of the rooming house with the assistance of her sister, Mary Heiser. She returned to the scenes of her youth and enjoyed a brief season with many of her relatives and old friends. Upon her return to her home her illness recurred and in a weakened physical condition fell a victim to the prevailing flu, despite the best care and medical treatment.

Maggie Wilson, as she was familiarly known, had a warm heart and felt for the suffering and misfortunes of others, and out of her generosity and kindness had befriended many who came to her in want and distress. She was devoted to her sisters and brothers and to the nieces and nephews and they always found a warm welcome in her home.

Beside the husband she is survived by the following sisters, Mrs. Kate Blake of Waverly, Mrs. Anna Schenkey of Portsmouth and Miss Mary Heiser of Cincinnati, a brother Louis Heiser and a half sister, Miss Elizabeth Heineman, both of Waverly. The remains were taken to Waverly, and the funeral service conducted by the Rev. E. A. McCullough of the Methodist Episcopal church was held from the home of sister, Miss Heineman Thursday afternoon. Burial in the Waverly cemetery.

Rosemary Edelson. Funeral services for Rosemary Edelson, eight year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isador Edelson of Ashland were held three Friday. The child had been ill three months with leakage of the heart. Mr. and Mrs. Edelson are well known here.

Hiram Mullin. Death Wednesday evening in Columbus claimed Hiram Mullin, former resident of Portsmouth. The final summons came at his home 1254 E. Long street after an illness of pneumonia.

Surviving are the widow, and six children, Mrs. Fannie Pierson of Columbus, Miss Era Ronk Mullin of 1001 Second street and Estelle and Lawrence at home and two sons by a former marriage, Sherd Mullin of Crescent Hill, Fla., and Henry Mullin of Lavallette, N. J.

The body is to be brought to Portsmouth Saturday noon and will be taken direct to Greenlawn cemetery for burial.

Baby Gregory. Funeral services for the four day's old son of Mr. and Mrs. King Gregory, Long Meadow Addition, Sciotoville, who was found dead in bed early Thursday morning were held Thursday afternoon from the home with Rev. Charles Reibard of the Sciotoville Christian church in charge. The child was ill with strangling spells Wednesday and had to have the attention of a physician. Death was due to natural causes, an examination of the body showed Thursday. The burial was in Greenlawn cemetery.

Fred Compliment

Local relatives received word Thursday of the death of Fred Compliment, which occurred at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Mayne Mischler, at South Charleston, Ohio. Mr. Compliment, who was about 87 years of age, had been making his home with his daughter since the death of his wife 18 or 20 years ago. Previous to that time he lived on a farm near Kelley's Mills, Lawrence County. He was widely known throughout Scioto County, and also in this city, where he frequently visited. Despite his advanced age, Mr. Compliment enjoyed the best of health until about Christmas, when he was taken ill with complications which caused his death Thursday. He is survived by the following children: Mrs. Mayne Mischler of South Charleston; Mrs. Anna Lee of Springfield, Ohio; Mrs. Jennie Mischler of Dayton, Ohio, and Miss Martha Compliment, of 1516 Hutchins street, this city; Charles Compliment, of Haverhill, this county, and Fred Compliment, of Springfield, Ohio. Another son, William Compliment, passed away about ten years ago, his widow, Mrs. Anna Compliment and family, residing at 1611 Seventh street, this city.

The funeral will be held at South Charleston Saturday morning, and the remains will be taken to Pine Grove, Lawrence County, for burial. The funeral party will pass through Portsmouth on N. and W. train No. 10 Saturday noon en route to Ironton, from which place they will be taken to Pine Grove in automobiles. Short funeral services will be held at the grave at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, with interment in the family lot adjoining St. Mary's Church.

Gas Pressure Low; No Relief Until Warmer Weather Comes

The Times was forced to leave out some advertising and to curtail a part of the news owing to the low gas pressure shutting down a part of the battery of Neotypes and crippling others.

"The gas pressure in Portsmouth was 'low and getting lower' today, and according to statements made by B. J. Crahan, local manager for the gas company, there is no relief in sight until warmer weather develops.

"The pressure is lower on the field lines than it has been at any time this year," said Mr. Crahan, "and until the pressure there is brought up there can be no relief here."

Mr. Crahan stated that the field lines were packed at night whenever possible, but that the exceptionally cold weather prevailing, with the consequent abnormal consumption of gas, prevented this being done at present, which simply means there is little hope for better pressure until warmer weather comes to the rescue.

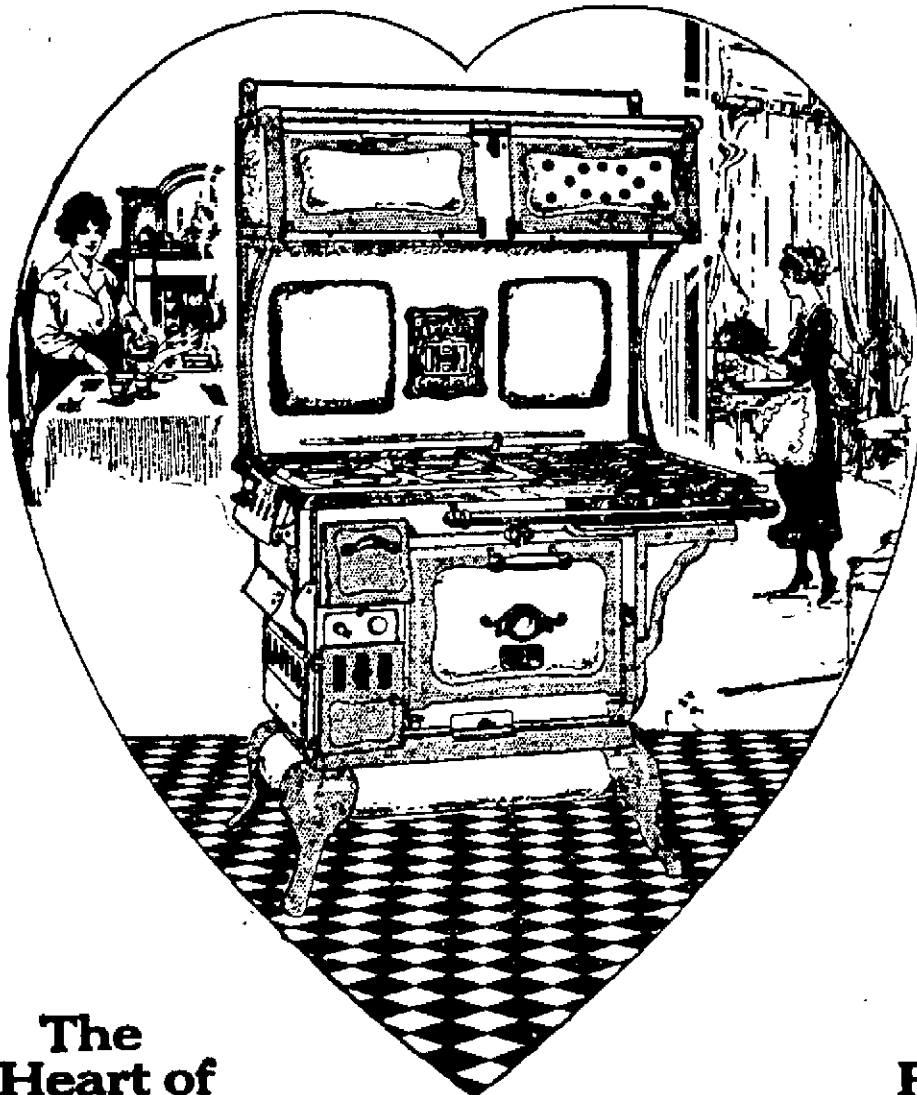

"All big industrial users have been shut off and everything is being done to conserve all the gas possible for domestic consumers," Mr. Crahan said.

GUN PLAY STAGED IN EAST END; PENNINGTON SHOT IN NECK; WARD, GUN USER IS HELD TO GRAND JURY

Following a personal encounter which started in Charles Reeler's store, Eighth and Kenhall avenue, shortly before eleven o'clock Friday morning George Ward, 37 years old, drew a .22 caliber revolver and fired twice at his opponent James C. Pennington, 27 years old, as the latter was walking away, one of the bullets passing through the left side of Pennington's neck, inflicting a flesh wound.

The altercation resulted from a dispute over the sale of an automobile owned by Ward and after the combatants had exchanged blows in the store others intervened and separated them and Pennington left when Ward pulled a knife, the police say. On going to his home nearby Pennington secured a soldiering iron and returned and the men renewed hostilities in the street in front of the Seelye store but the fight soon ended and it was while Pennington was walking away that the shots were fired, according to the police. Both men were arrested and in Municipal court this afternoon Ward pleaded not guilty to a charge of shooting with intent to kill and waived examination to the grand jury. He was released on $100 bond. Pennington pleaded guilty to fighting and he was fined $11.20.

Frank Shaw, West Side Man, Suffers Only Bruises When Run Over By Big Automobile

Frank Shaw, driver of a Washington dairy delivery wagon, had a narrow escape from serious injury Friday about noon when two wheels of a large touring car driven by William Sheets of the Portsmouth Vulcanizing Company passed over him. The accident occurred on Sixth street between Offshore and Lincoln streets.

Shaw was driving east on Sixth street and Sheets was going in the same direction but was behind the milk wagon. Shaw noticed a machine coming west on Sixth but thought he had plenty of time to cross in front of it and stepped out of the left side of his wagon to deliver several bottles of milk.

Sheets saw Shaw at once and realized his peril but as he did not have time to stop his car turned far to the left to get by Shaw without hitting him. The latter had the same idea as Sheets and tried to hurry across the street in an effort to get out of the path of the machine. The bumper, however, struck Shaw and he fell on the front fender and then slid to the street, the two wheels on the right side of the machine passing over one of his legs and one of his arms. Sheets thought sure the man suffered a broken leg and arm but an examination by Dr. Murelle at his office showed that he had suffered only bruises and slight cuts. He carried a half dozen milk bottles at the time and they were broken in the fall. Mr. Sheets took Shaw to his home on the West Side.

Here's News, You Suit Club Members: Chance To Get One You Ordered

Tom Neidig, representative of the Allen Tailoring Company, charged in more than a score of complaints with operating a "suit club" in this city, with intent to defraud, appeared in Municipal court Friday with his counsel, Attorney Sidney G. Kusworm, of Dayton, and on the showing made as to what has been done in respect to the concern living up to its contracts by furnishing suits to all patrons. Judge McCall released the defendant's bond and placed the case on the open docket and allowed the accused to go on his own recognizance.

Attorney Kusworm advised the court that suits had already been furnished to a number of the alleged grieved customers and that others had been repeatedly notified to call and get their clothes, but had failed to do so. He declared they were allowing a discount of $2.50 on each contract and announced that a representative of the concern will be at the Washington Hotel next Thursday and Friday to adjust matters satisfactorily with local patrons.

Court House

Prisoners Arraigned

Eight men indicted by the grand jury which reported yesterday, were brought before Judge Thomas in common pleas court Friday morning to answer to the charges brought against them, five of whom admitted guilt and were sentenced, while the other three denied guilt and will stand trial.

Ernest Lively, 18, of Huntington, and Bert Wilkes, 18, of Chesapeake, entered pleas of guilty to a joint indictment, charging them with breaking into the Malavazos confectionery in the waiting station at New Boston in January and rifling four cash registers of $55. Lively also admitted that they entered the Doerr Bros. restaurant on Market street, December 28, and stole $46 in money and the indictment charging him with this offense was nolleed on motion of prosecutor Skelton. Wilkes denied participating in the Doerr robbery. Both young men were sentenced to the Mansfield Reformatory for an indeterminate term.

Russell Robinson, 30 years old, better known as "Dummy", pleaded guilty to a charge of gun toting and he was sentenced to the penitentiary for one year.

Carson Gilliam and Richard Nowlin admitted guilt of stealing L. G. Hayden's automobile from this city on December 24 last, and both were sentenced to the Reformatory.

Tom Murphy, 32 years old, Cleveland, pleaded not guilty to six indictments, charging him with forgery and uttering and publishing forged instruments in this city at various times during the month of January. The accused was caught by the local police after he had passed several worthless checks, it is claimed, issued on the First National Bank of Russell, Ky., in the names of H. A. Trevelian, G. A. Midcalf and other assumed names. Charles Weber, the Chillicothe street shoe dealer, was one of the defendant's victims. Murphy is also wanted at Ironton on a similar charge.

Joseph Burge and Charles Burdett, charged with larceny of $37, from Clady McGuire on January 27, last, and also with receiving stolen agency, pleaded not guilty to both charges. Attorney J. P. Coates was appointed to defend the pair.

Other persons under indictment, including several out on bond, will be arraigned before Judge Thomas Saturday morning.

In her petition filed through Attorney Walter A. Miley the wife says that Voller has continually cursed and abused her, threatened her life and frequently struck her and then complains that he treated her in such a cruel and inhuman manner that she was forced to leave her home last March and go to the home of her mother at the Eighth street address where she has since resided. Modern Tailors Will Open

New Clothing Store Tomorrow

The "Modern Tailors," Portsmouth's newest business venture, will open its doors to the public at 420 Chillicothe street, Saturday. The concern will be under the management of George Stivers, who is one of the most expert of cutters and designers and who was associated with J. H. Goodman's United Woolen Co. for the past several years. With Mr. Stivers will be Herman Lohelt, as master tailor.

The "Modern Tailors" will be located in the building recently purchased by Phil Wolff and which has been completely remodeled to meet all its demands. A new front has been installed, and the interior beautified, with plenty of light. The new concern will do nothing but the highest grade of custom work, and will have on display a wonderful line of spring woolsens, personally selected by Mr. Stivers, who recently returned from New York City, where he placed a large order. Under the management of Mr. Stivers, the store should do a splendid business. Not only is Manager Stivers recognized for his ability as a builder of clothes, but he is one of the city's most popular young men and has a large following. While the weather is not as propitious as it might be for an opening, leakage of the heart, Mr. and Mrs. many people will accept the invitation of the "Modern Tailors" and inspect their showing tomorrow.

Board Of Education Clears Teachers Of Assault Charges Made By Pupil

Members of the Portsmouth Board of Education last night at a special meeting when a hearing was held on the charges filed against Prof. C. D. Walden and Prof. A. K. Wheeler of the high school faculty by Edward Young, father of Elmer Young, high school student, found that testimony offered at the hearing did not sustain the charges of "malicious and meretricious assault," contained in the written complaint against the teachers, and exonerated them of the charges after weighing the testimony at an executive session. The decision of the board after coming from executive session was as follows:

"The Board of Education of the city of Portsmouth in the hearing of the case of Edward Young against Messrs. Walden and Wheeler, decide as follows: --That, while it may seem to be a deplorable incident, there seems to have been considerable provocation for what happened. And, while the board does not approve of drastic means of punishment, yet to keep discipline in our schools it must be recognized that insubordination on the part of a pupil toward a teacher cannot be tolerated and, while those accused may have been thought rough in their means of punishment, yet under the conditions we find them not guilty of the charges contained in the accusation."

Elmer Young, member of the Sophomore class was the first person heard after all witnesses in the case had been excluded from the hearing. His story of the trouble was as follows: "It was on the first day of the new semester and I had taken my brother, who was just starting in, to his assembly room and was hurrying down the hall to get to my room before the last bell rang. I was going west through the hall with Herbert Rice when Mr. Walden called to us and said, 'Where do you boys belong?' I replied, downstairs, never paid any more attention to him and hurried on. He then grabbed me with both hands around my neck and shook me. I pulled his thumbs away from my throat as he was choking me. We then went down to Mr. Eccles' office where Mr. Walden asked Mr. Wheeler if he knew me and after some words were exchanged Wheeler said, 'You ought to get your head knocked off and that if I was not so little he would knock me through the wall. He then hit me and broke my nose which had been broken before. I struck back at him then and Mr. McComb separated us."

Both teachers were present and said they did not have any questions to ask the boy.

Miss Ruth Withers, who claimed she was an eye witness to the trouble between Walden and the boy was the next witness. Miss Withers said she noticed two persons in the hall when she reached the head of the stairs and thought that boys were playing but when she heard loud remarks from Mr. Walden and then saw that Mr. Walden had Elmer by the collar, she said: "I then saw Mr. Walden hit him in the face and the blow would probably have knocked him down if Mr. Walden had not held tight to him. I did not see Elmer hit the wall but Mr. Walden dragged and jerked him down the stairs."

Alice Brewer called as a witness for Young, proved to be a witness for the teachers when her testimony was given. She claimed that she was in the office of Mr. Eccles and that when Mr. Walden and the boy came in the boy was resisting the teacher. She said: "The boy dared Mr. Wheeler to hit him, and Mr. Wheeler then struck him on the face with his open hand. There was some talk about impudence."

Louise Scheid, who also witnessed the trouble in Mr. Eccles' office, claimed that she was with Alice Brewer and that when they walked into the office the teachers and the Young boy were already there. She said that there was loud talking and that it looked as if they were wrestling. "I saw Mr. Wheeler slap the boy on the side of the face," said Miss Scheid. Miss Scheid and Miss Brewer differed in their testimony, for Miss Brewer said that she was in the office when the teacher and the boy came in, while Miss Scheid said that she was sure the teachers were there when she and the Brewer girl walked into the office.

Prof. Walden then told his side of the trouble as follows: "I was stationed in the third floor hall and as there had been some trouble about numbers on doors being changed, Prof. Mussie and myself were watching all who came through the hall. We sent several downstairs and when I noticed three lads I did not know I asked them their names and where they belonged. One turned into a room where he belonged and the Young boy did not answer but hurried on down the hall. I caught up with him and took hold of his shoulder and again asked him his name and where he belonged. I then shook him, for that is a punishment that is no more than usual now in the schools and I am sure he complained that I was tearing his sweater which shows I did not have hold of his neck. Going down the stairs the boy kept talking about me having to pay for this and such other remarks that I did not pay any attention to. He also urged me to take off my glasses. As we walked into Mr. Eccles' office I noticed Mr. Eccles was not in but seeing Mr. Wheeler there asked him if he knew the boy, who had refused to tell me his name. Wheeler replied that he did not know him and the boy got impudent with Mr. Wheeler and dared him to strike him. Wheeler slapped him, the boy, with his open hand and when the boy struck at him and missed, Wheeler caught his head under his arm and held him until he quieted down."

Prof. Wheeler was then asked to tell his story, which was as follows. "I was in the office on business when loud talking at the door attracted my attention. Something was said about whip you anywhere. Mr. Walden then asked me if I knew the boy and I replied that I did not. The boy spoke up and said that Mr. Walden had been jerking him around upstairs and that he did not have a right to do it and he would not stand for it. I told him Mr. Walden had a right to shake him and then he stuck his face up close to mine and dared me to hit him. I slapped him on the side of the face with my open hand and when he struck back at me he missed me and I grabbed his head under my arm. He was told to remain in the office until Mr. Eccles arrived, but instead left the building. I did not learn his name until that afternoon."

Miss Marion Davies, also a member of the high school faculty, who was in Mr. Eccles' office was called as a witness for Mr. Wheeler. She said she heard Mr. Wheeler ask the boy his name and that when the boy first dared Mr. Wheeler to hit him, Mr. Wheeler said that he was too little but that when the boy kept repeating the statement Mr. Wheeler slapped him.

Edward Young, father, and Arthur Young, brother of Elmer Young, said that they did not know the details of the trouble at the school but that the boy came to their office with big red marks on his neck and with blood on his face and complained that he had been roughly handled by two teachers.

Church Window Is Illuminated

The large and beautiful window on the Gay street side of the United Brethren church, depicting the agony and suffering of Christ in the Garden of Gethsemane has been beautifully illuminated and is attracting wide attention throughout the city. The window lends itself admirably to the scheme and the flood of light appears to be breaking forth from heaven illuminating the figure of the Christ in a most outstanding and astonishing manner and seemingly penetrating to the very depth of the agony and suffering. A glimpse at this window any evening during Lent will wonderfully impress the significance of the Gethsemane scene upon the mind of the humble follower of the Christ. Last evening hundreds of pedestrians and auto drivers greatly admired the beautiful effect produced.

The idea of illuminating church windows was conceived in the East some time ago but it has traveled so fast that at the present time in all the larger centers of population many beautiful church windows have been placed on display.

Picks Fever Blister; Blood Poison Develops; New Boston Woman Dies

Blood-poisoning, which developed from a fever blister on her lip, which she picked open, resulted in the death of Mrs. Georgia Marie Smith, wife of Denver Smith, well known father of New Boston, Thursday night at seven o'clock, the final summons coming at her home, 3974 Gallia street, New Boston. The fever blister came on Mrs. Smith's lip following a cold and she picked it open like she had others many times before. Two weeks ago today blood-poisoning developed and all that her physician could do would not check the progress of the poisoning, which ultimately ended in death.

Mrs. Smith would have been 25 years old March 2, and was born at Clinton Furnace, Ohio, being a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Conway. Most of her life was spent at South Webster. About seven years ago she was united in marriage to Water Pipes for Prison Bars!

The Lesson That the Recent Escape of Clara Phillips Has Taught, and the Strange New Device Proposed to Prevent Jail Deliveries in the Future.

SOLID bars of tempered steel—each of them an inch thick—held Clara Phillips, convicted "hammer murderer," in a cell of the modern Los Angeles jail.

Escape? No one even considered the possibility.

Here was a frail girl, after all—feminine tears, beauty, silk stockings, powder puff—locked in a cage that would hold the fiercest tiger!

But she did escape. And she escaped by sawing through those bars of tempered steel—the same kind of bars from which the cell doors and windows of all modern jails are constructed.

It was by no means the first escape of this kind. But it was one of the most unexpected and spectacular. And it immediately set a thousand prison wardens and sheriffs from Maine to California to speculating and scratching their heads. If a girl like that could do it, a desperate man could do it—whenever he had the chance.

Naturally the wardens who scratched their heads hardest were those in the prisons of California. Clara Phillips was reported free in Mexico, across the border by airplane. But suppose they got her back? How could they hold her? How could they be sure of holding other prisoners when a mere girl had played them such a trick?

And, as if sent by Providence, in the midst of the turmoil over the escape of the hammer murderer, an inventor has turned up who says:

"I've got the trick that will hold Clara Phillips, or any other prisoner, no matter how cunning of brain or how strong of arm. Substitute ordinary water pipes for your solid steel bars, and not a single prisoner will ever be able to escape."

It was an extraordinary idea, and a practical one when the details were understood—so practical in fact that the officials of the big California state prison in Folsom are planning to adopt it when they construct their big new prison buildings.

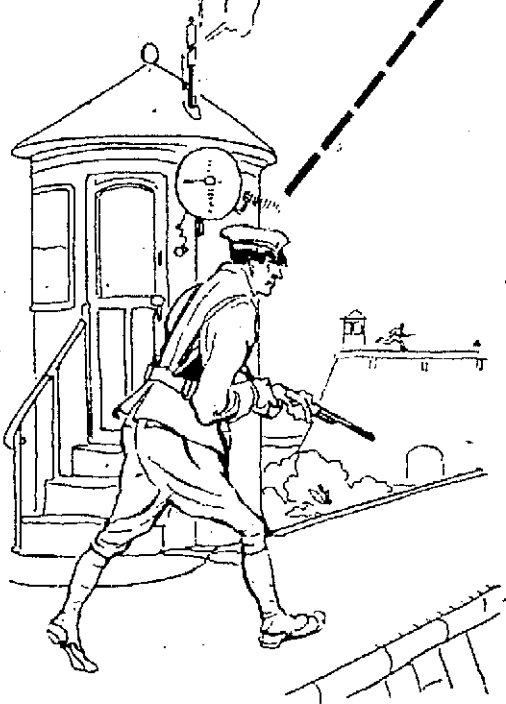

Don't make the mistake of imagining that the object of the water pipe is automatically to deluge and "drown" the prisoner into submission if he cuts one of them. He gets thoroughly drenched, but that isn't the point.

"The Moment a Prisoner Saws Through One of Them a Hydraulic Dial Clicks in the Warden's Office Which Warns the Guards and Arouses the Prison."

John Huff, Alias Hale, Broke Jail in San Francisco by Enlarging the "Feeding Hole" to 7 1/4 by 13 Inches. The Water Pipe System Would Have Prevented the Escape.

Clara Phillips, Long at Liberty Following Her Daring Escape from Jail, Had Been Sentenced for Life for Killing a Rival in Love. Hers Was a Case Where Beauty Did Not Sway a Jury.

All of these water pipes which are to be substituted for the solid steel bars are interconnected in the same hydraulic system which runs through the whole jail. They are kept filled with water at a uniform high pressure, which is recorded on a hydraulic dial in the warden's office—a big clock face something like the steam indicator of an engine—and this in turn is connected with an electrical alarm system which extends throughout the entire building.

The "break" is made. The needle clicks. An electrical contact is established, and at the very instant when the prisoner's saw first cuts through the pipe and releases the water, huge alarm gongs begin ringing all over the prison with a noise that would "wake the dead."

Instantly the armed guards are running. Every man on duty rushes to his post. The guards on the outer walls get their warning, and all chances of escape are cut off.

By an additional mechanism, which it is hoped will be perfected, and which is illustrated in the lower small diagram drawing on this page, it is believed it will be possible to arrange a system of automatic signals by which the precise tier and cell from which the alarm comes will be instantaneously recorded. This supplementary device has not yet been fully worked out, and may not be necessary—as an instantaneous general alarm alone would apparently be sufficient.

If such a water pipe system had been in operation when Clara Phillips broke jail in Los Angeles, her escape would have been humanly impossible. Following her conviction and sentence to life imprisonment she was being held in the big county jail, prior to her transfer to St. Quentin penitentiary, where she was to execute the death of Mrs. Albert Meadows, whom she slew on Montecito Drive last July. Believing that Mrs. Meadows had been too friendly with her husband, Clara Phillips invited her to go for an auto ride, with a friend, Mrs. Peggy Caffee. Arriving at a lonely spot, they got out, and she beat Mrs. Meadows to death with a hammer.

It was a woman in a different mood, however, that they held in the cell, after her conviction, in Los Angeles. Or at least her mood seemed different and deceived her jailers. Someone had given her a pair of yellow curtains which she had hung over the steel-barred window high from the ground. She must have worked several nights before her actual escape, for three steel bars, each an inch thick, had been sawed through and held in place with pieces of chewing gum.

If these bars had been water pipes instead of solid steel, Clara Phillips would have been "caught" at the very beginning of these preliminary steps. As it was, the jailers had no inkling of what she was doing.

On the night of her escape, she said she was ill, and asked to be left undisturbed. In the silence of the night she loosened the bars, crawled through an opening about two feet square, and climbed like a "human fly" to the roof, from which she slid down a drain pipe to the roof of a building adjoining the jail. From this roof, it is believed, she was aided by a ladder brought there by the men who were to aid in her "get-away."

A deputy sheriff reported later that he had noticed an automobile, with curtains down, near the jail at about 1 A. M., and as soon as the escape was carried out, the dash for safety was begun in this car. The climb of Mrs. Phillips over the parapet above her window to the top of the jail building alone was a difficult acrobatic feat that couldn't have been undertaken in too great a hurry. Everything depended on plenty of time and on her not being seen.

Another recent remarkable escape which would have been prevented by the "water pipe" system was that of John Huff, San Francisco burglar, who sawed off a single bar from the wicket opening through which food was passed to him, and climbed to liberty through the roof by means of a ventilator shaft. The hole he made by cutting the extra bar was only 7 1/4 by 13 inches.

Experts believe that the "water pipe" system may prove the best that has yet been devised to prevent jail-breaking. Others have since suggested air pressure instead of water, or electric circuits, the bars being charged sufficiently for bell-ringing purposes but not heavily enough to be dangerous. The problem has been one that has exercised the inventive ingenuity of man ever since he first took to incarcerating his fellow beings. In the old days the jailer depended on mere thickness of stone walls and heaviness of iron bars, which no matter how heavy often failed to withstand sawing or tunnelling if the prisoner had time, patience, and the will to escape.

In more modern jail-building, steel took the place of iron and stone, but as fast as new processes were invented for hardening steel, other inventors discovered methods of cutting it.

One of the most interesting modern inventions prior to this newest device of the "water bars" was the "revolving cell," which was built as an experiment in a number of English and American jails a few years ago to hold desperate jail-breakers. This was simply a circular cell of light steel bars, which slowly revolved inside a heavier stationary barred cell with only an inch or two intervening. Even though the prisoner might saw through the first bars, he could not possibly saw through the second set because the cell kept revolving. No prisoner ever escaped from one of these cells, but two or three were nearly driven insane by the "perpetual motion," and the idea, though effective, was more or less discarded because of its cruelty.

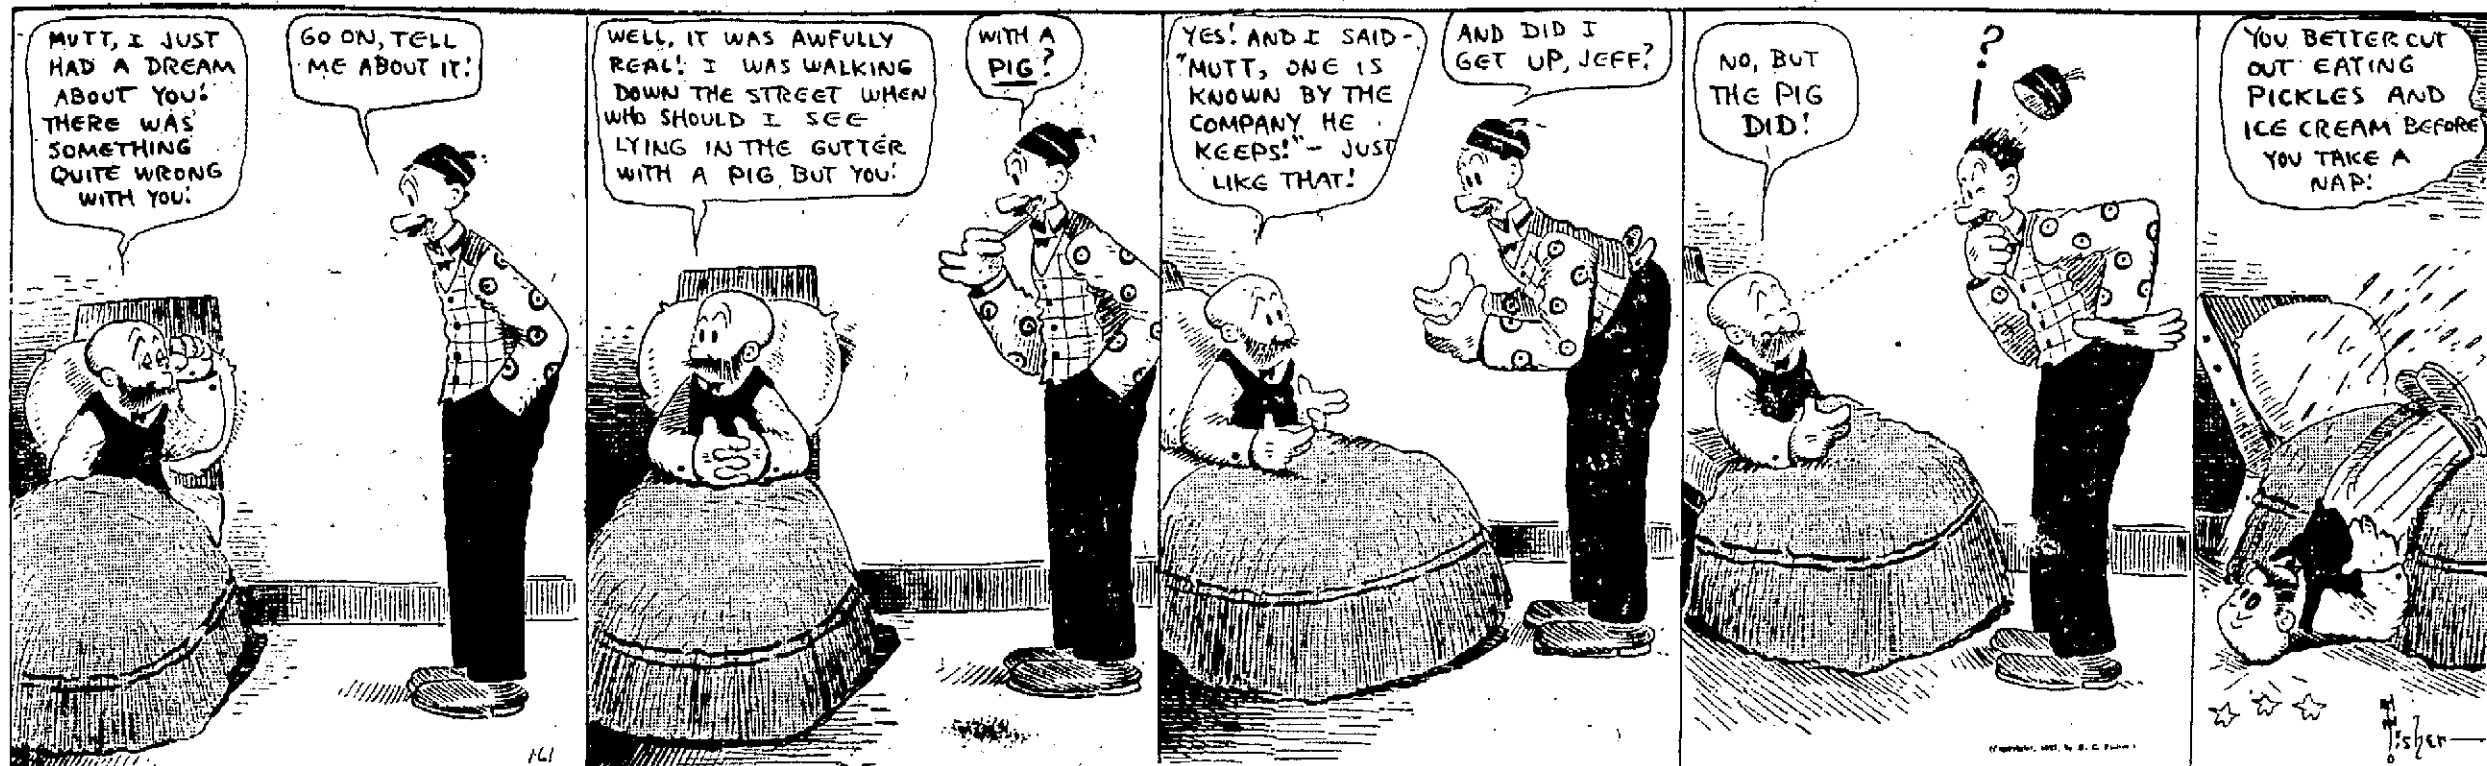

The only other modern methods in dealing with the confirmed expert jail-breaker have been the placing of special watchmen always on the job day and night just outside the jail door, or the use of manacles. The first, obviously, is extremely expensive, and the second one, of keeping the prisoner chained like an animal, is repugnant to modern ideas.

This latter method, however, is still used, as mercifully as possible, in some state prisons in the South. If a prisoner breaks jail and is recaptured, he is taken back to the same cell, but heavy chains of case-hardened steel are locked round his ankles and he is sometimes forced to wear them for months at a time—though rather as a precaution than a punishment.

WILL THE P. H. S. TEAM TAME ASHLAND TOMCATS TONIGHT?

At eight o'clock tonight in the P. H. S. gym, the Red and Blue defense will meet the fast stepping Ashland Tomcats.

The Ashland quintet has not been doing the world on fire with victories this season, but their schedule contained games with teams representing much bigger schools, such as Huntington, Charleston and Lexington. The team has been making good showing, considering the stiff position it has faced and tonight's Tomcats are expected to put a hard fight against the on-rush of the locals, coached by Harry Wagner, who is getting the local talent in shape for the Athens tournament to be held early next week by Ohio University.

Saturday night P. H. S. plays at age again with the fast Lancaster team as their opponents.

Dempsey Seeks Refuge In Movies

By HENRY L. FARRELL (United Press Staff Writer)

New York, February 16. (United Press.)—As long as governors, boxing commissions and a large part of the public persist in the attitude that this case is one of only trivial importance, Jack Dempsey might just as well retire from the ring. There is little else for him to do right now. Just now Dempsey is up against the same thing that caused Jim Jeffries to go into retirement, only that Jeff didn't have any opponents to keep him busy and there is something wrong with the few that Dempsey has in his division. Willard is too old, Johnson is too young, Gibson is too light and Willis is too dark.

Dempsey will not weep at the unkind fates that keep him from getting into the ring, however. Perhaps he considers himself fortunate. So long as he stays away from an arena, he will retain his title and if he keeps away from his profession long enough, parts of the public might forget that he is the champion prize fighter.

The champion, who is now a wealthy man, is not keen any more about the company that he was once associated with in the linear ranks. He would much rather be known as a young business man. When he returned recently from California many of his old cronies found that Jack was cooling on them and many of his staunchest supporters in the early days when he didn't have any thing and needed everything are waiting that he is giving them the Ritz now.

Dempsey really thinks now that he is an actor and, if he can't pick up a million for an afternoon's work in the ring, he will confine his work to the movies where the pay is almost as good.

There were no movies in the old days. When a champion got too good he had to quit and go into the saloon business. In these days of opportunities, however, Dempsey can find dough wherever he places his hands.

Jenny Leonard, the lightweight champion, is another prominent actor among the pugilistic prouds. Dempsey is a newcomer to Broadway, but he had a lot of experience around the country when he was a member of the popular dancing act of Leonard and Dundee.

Only one other act was more popular and had a longer run and that was Britton and Lewis.

Ruth Is Satisfied

With New Ball Yard

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—Babe Ruth is satisfied that the new Yankee baseball stadium holds no terrors for him. He swung his favorite bat over there for a few minutes today, knocking several balls over the outfield stands.

He will leave tomorrow for Hot Springs, Ark., to take the baths before joining the club, March 7, at New Orleans, for the spring workout.

Wally Schang, veteran catcher, and all pitchers of the Yanks will leave tomorrow for Hot Springs.

CITY AND COUNTRY CHANGES

HERE is much good common sense in the statement of the dean of Pennsylvania State College that it is useless to worry about the old problem of how to keep the boys and girls on the farm and his advice to forget it and let them leave the farm if they wish to do so. He says it is the natural tendency of children to wish to do something different and to seek untold wars and occupations instead of following in the footsteps of their parents.

The same spirit makes the city child long for the farm and the garden, and this inclination, properly encouraged, may inspire city boys and girls to take the place of the country boys and girls who leave the farm. The vegetable farm is the easiest and most natural way to start the city child as a farmer and the small garden is the forerunner of the vegetable farm.

For this reason such enterprises as the observation of a national garden week, as proposed by the General Federation of Women's Clubs, is worthy of encouragement. President Harding has given his endorsement of such observance the week of April 12, and the joy of planting something and watching it grow will be made known to many children for the first time. They will learn something of plant life at least, and who knows how many future farmers will receive their inspiration from garden week?

FRANCE'S ATTITUDE

REPORT from Paris that the Washington conference treaties are scheduled for ratification in the near future is encouraging to those enlisted in the movement to reinforce peace with amicable agreements and to lessen the menace of war by limiting armaments. Ratification by France would complete the first grouping of the nations in agreement, as proposed by the Washington conference, and would make the first stage toward permanency of peace, under the Washington plan, an accomplished fact.

Ratification by France would help to negative the charge of militarism that has been filed against it and would place it before the world as co-operating with other nations to make peace enduring.

NATIONAL BOY SCOUT WEEK

THIS is National Boy Scout Week in celebration of the thirteenth anniversary of "scouting." Schools, churches, civic clubs and associations have been invited to co-operate. In those 13 years it is believed the movement has entered the lives of a million and a half boys and men, the present membership showing 420,000 active Boy Scouts and 125,000 men serving as scoutmasters or on scout committees. There are eight million boys of scout age in the country, and it is the not too sanguine hope of the present "roundup" that it will make the active membership around half million. This active membership, as all who have observed the scouts know, means more than mere enrollment; it means active and intelligent interest in a great movement which is making for better citizenship, for patriotism nationally and civic and community pride and betterment. It is therefore worthy of every aid good citizens can bestow.

BOBBED HAIR

HOW asks a woman of the, could a queen look queenly with bobbed hair, sticking out from beneath her crown? This evidently is intended to be a poser for flappers who have yielded to the lure of the shears. But is it? It is not difficult to find queens who look queenly with bobbed hair—sans crown—to suit the average man.

Certainly to those who recall the fly-away headdress of past seasons bobbed hair sticking out from beneath a crown would not be less suggestive of queenliness than a crown sticking out from above the towering pompadour of the late nineties or the puffs of the first decade of 1900. Long-haired women may not rate bobbed hair as queenly, but the flapper with abbreviated locks seems to be holding her own in the business of reigning.

BUSINESS IN HEAVEN

NOW comes a spiritualist with the assertion that big business men are needed in heaven and that up there men of affairs on earth will have full opportunity to continue business activities. This is interesting to worshippers of Mammon and to men centered heart and soul in business, but rather startling to those who have come to believe in heaven as a place of abode where everything runs without a hitch and in perfect harmony. Well, in these days any old theory can be foisted upon some branch of the human tribe.

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—Thoughts while strolling around New York: The rise and fall of the Plaza fountain. Like a city's heart beat, a frightened lady on a skittish horse. Courage Canille! Suk batted John's swinging along to matinee stage doors. Florence Mills, the dusky cabaret queen, really rides in a Rolls-Royce.

Ducksters from Wall Street. Jaws set. Haggard eyes and repellent pallor. I'd rather be a rag picker. There goes Samuel Hopkins Adams. The black French poodle is becoming popular. Ladies with pocket flasks showing.

A new fleet of taxicabs. All painted pink. Hot gingerbread. There's a woman wearing a white derby. The little Italian waves a flag. Boom! Boom! A scared poodle crashes into an automobile. Wonder how long it will be until they finish this town.

Two puffy new radio shops. I'm humbled. That was a Vanderbilt and he didn't speak. He needs to feel self-conscious. I'm democratic and easy to meet. The Bare Head Club out for a walk. Has 300 members. That hissing you hear is the hat manufacturers.

Hello! Herbert Kaufman is back in our midst. That's rushing the season. A shoe shop displays tennis shoes. Still it won't be long until we have the yellow birds and ground robins. And flowers that bloom in the Spring tulle!

Somebody is always catching me standing in front of a corset shop window. The color of burning wood. Zip! went an auto tire and my hat. Ten more years in this town and I'll have the Mumbaling Manies. I'm getting so now that I talk to myself in the bath.

A famous old groggery is now a hosiery shop. Whatever became of the inebriate odd jobsman who hung around bars? Billie Eversich and Bebe Daniels. I'll buy them a soda. No, I'll compromise. I'll just stroll along and tell 'em a funny story.

There is a crabbed old copy-reader on Park Row who rarely smiles. The other day he received a piece of copy to edit. It was the story of a former well known New Yorker who died at the age of 92.

He reported the death to his chief.

The Happy Days
Horace, Book L. Ode XX
Dear Knight Maccenas, come lift up
The modest cup
I offer thee—plain Sabine wine
From grapes grown here on my own vine!

Intuit on my pastoral tasks,
In Grecian casks
I sealed it here, myself at home,
The while the crowds cheered you in Rome.

Yes, while the banks of Tiber rang
And Echo sang
Among the Vatican, thy praise—
I, on the farn here, went my ways!

Although my hospitality
Cannot give thee
Falerian, or Caecuban,
Caelian, or Formian—

No fancy vintages are mine—
Yet here in wine
Grown on the Sabine hills by me,
I drink thy health—long life to thee!

Too Easy a Triumph
Anthony—You do believe me, dearest, when I tell you that you are the only girl I ever loved. Don't you?

GOOD MANNERS
When two daughters make their debut together, the mother's name, on their joint card, appears as before, nearest the top. Directly below it is "Miss Blank," for the older daughter and then, "Miss Mary Blank," for the younger. Or, the form, "The Misses Blank," may be used. The joint card is used in announcing an at-home day, in sending out gifts or when mother and daughters make calls together.
